DEDICATION

DONALD ARTHUR COLBERG . . .

. . . a man who is very dedicated to teaching and always working. A sense of urgency surrounds his personality.

He has strong principles. Not satisfied with second best, he believes in allowing students to assume responsibility in order to benefit from the experience; a democrat and an idealist.

Mr. Colberg has a wide variety of interests, ranging from records -- Beethoven, Pete Seeger, Bill Cosby, and marching bands -- to art -- the Renaissance to Pablo Picasso and Andrew Wyeth -- to books -- the Old Testament to Ferlinghetti.

Loving sports, especially basketball and football, Mr. Colberg's favorite team is Nebraska and his favorite football player is Gale Sayers. He is probably BDH's greatest frisbee player and one of the worst handball players.

We, the first graduating class of Bishop Dagwell Hall, proudly dedicate the first yearbook to "DAC". Without his assistance and prodding some of us would not be going to college. We recognize Mr. Colberg's dedication to young people and by dedicating our yearbook to him we wish to say "thank you" for all of his time and efforts.

THE CLASS OF 1967

Director's Message to the Senior Class of 1967

MR. C. MARVIN BURKE
Director

Mr. Burke came to BDH in 1965 originally as Dean of Students and then as Director in 1966.

Though a native of Virginia, he went to high school in Ohio. He attended the University of Virginia where he majored in psychology and speech. After serving in World War II he became Dean of St. Catherine's School in Davenport, Iowa. Previous to his arrival at Bishop Dagwell Hall he was Dean of Students at Robert Louis Stevenson.

Mr. Burke through his untiring effort on the school's behalf and his extreme fairness has gained the respect of the entire student body. Under his confident leadership Bishop Dagwell Hall is well on its way to becoming one of the top college preparatory schools.

Seldom during the span of a lifetime are we afforded the excitement, challenge and opportunity which has been ours during these first two years in the development of an institution which will carry on what we have begun through many years after we have all faded. From the "growing pains", the impatience in getting things accomplished NOW, the endless conferences and decisions, the strain of the battle to build BEYOND mediocrity will emerge a strong basis of academic and personal excellence of which we will all be proud. These have been demanding and sometimes frustrating years when you, the Seniors of 1967, young men, have had to be "older men" to meet the constant pressures which always accompany the privilege of being among the few to help establish the guidelines and traditions of a new organization such as Bishop Dagwell Hall.

I consider myself particularly blessed to have experienced this growth with a group of outstanding young men. Future years will bring back these memories to your minds and far more appreciatively you will recognize the depth of your personal growth through this experience. This has been a memorable period in my life and undoubtedly you, the first graduates of B.D.H. will always remain in my thinking as THE class of The Hall.

As you pass through the Senior Gate at Commencement, you will move forward into the second major phase of your lives to face the new challenges, some discouragements, and, I trust, many rewarding and happy experiences. Some young men falter by the wayside before arriving at the milestone which you have reached...you have fought the battle and won! New battles lie ahead and I urge you to stay strong and determined as you press forward to that "high calling" which is individually yours.

Good luck, good judgment and God's blessing go with you.

ADMINISTRATION

DR. ROBERT H. AUGHTRY
Dean of Academics

Dr. Aughtry is responsible for the daily maintenance of Bishop Dagwell Hall's high academic standards. He came to BDH from Robert Louis Stevenson in California where he taught Biology. Especially memorable, is the unselfish counsel he has offered, his fairness in all disciplinary action and, above all, his consistent friendliness and good humor.

MR. WILLIAM B. CHASE
Dean of Students

The new Dean of Students came to Bishop Dagwell Hall from Wayland Academy in Wisconsin. He also teaches General Science and Physics.

Mr. Chase has inspired a feeling of "administrator-student equality" throughout the year. His consistent good spirit has contributed much warmth to the campus atmosphere.

MR. JAMES T. CALDWELL
Director of Athletics

Mr. Caldwell is the school soccer and wrestling coach, and eighth grade History teacher as well as the mainstay of the Physical Education Department. His background includes two years teaching at Robert Louis Stevenson and various governmental work. With Mr. Caldwell's (alias C.I.A.-gent) dedication to Bishop Dagwell Hall athletics, the school may hope for excellent sports participation in future years.

FOOD SERVICE

MR. BEAL BURNS
Saga Food Manager

Mr. Burns, "the watermelon on toothpicks", is probably Sigma Alpha Epsilon's most loyal alum. His heart is always on the side of the students' welfare; the school's best diplomat. Dedicated to BDH, interested and anxious to help the school, he is always talking to people, be they SHH or BDH students from the junior highs to the high schools to the faculties and administrations.

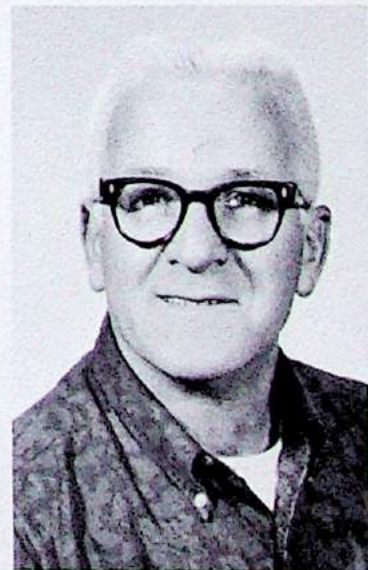

Mr. Burns is closely associated with campus life and will always be remembered as an influential part of the first BDH years.

MAINTENANCE

MR. EARL BRUNT
Superintendent of Maintenance and Operation

Mr. Brunt, who is the Superintendent of Maintenance and Operations, is a native of Fitchburg, Massachusetts. Before moving to Portland in 1962 Mr. Brunt lived in Florida for two years and then in North Port, Long Island where he worked as a janitor in a public school. He joined the St. Helen's Hall staff in 1964 and now heads a staff of seven men and two maids.

In general, Mr. Brunt likes his work very much and he especially likes the students of BDH whom he calls "a very good lot".

CLASS OF 1967

This year's Senior Class is unique: we are the first. We are the first to graduate; we are the first to establish precedents; we are the first to be able to look backward and watch.

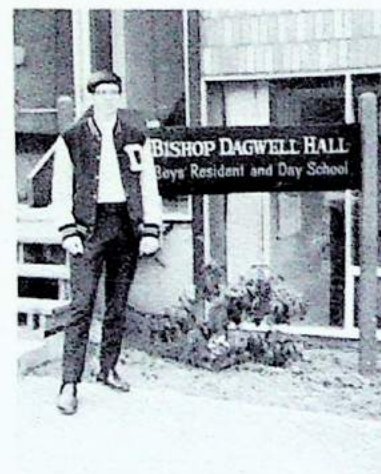

We have been unique because for two years we have furnished the school's leaders. No one can deny that what has been accomplished in the past two years has been with our help. We hope that what we have done, the traditions we have established, will be for the improvement of the school and those who constitute it. We have been narrow-minded, broad-minded, selfish, and generous. We have added laughter to the school: may it endure.

To typify the Senior Class of '67 would be a mistake. Our class is a jigsaw puzzle: in its entirety it is a unit with all pieces interlocking and joined together, yet it is made up of individual pieces, of which no two even bear resemblance to each other. Thus it has been with our class-individuals united to form a whole that is unique. It is natural enough that, in our pride, we should say that no class will ever be like ours. Yet with this, we would issue a challenge: let no other class be like ours. Let each class pioneer for itself and for those to follow. It is easy to follow in someone else's footsteps, but it is far harder and far better to make your own. For two years we have led and innovated. For all that we have done, by no means have we done all. To those who follow us, we bequeath not what we have done, but the spaces between what we have done, that they may be filled. It is our hope that this spirit may be continued and improved upon.

CLASS OF 1968

The Junior Class is one of the fastest expanding classes of BDH. The eight sophomores of last year have grown to twenty-one Juniors this year.

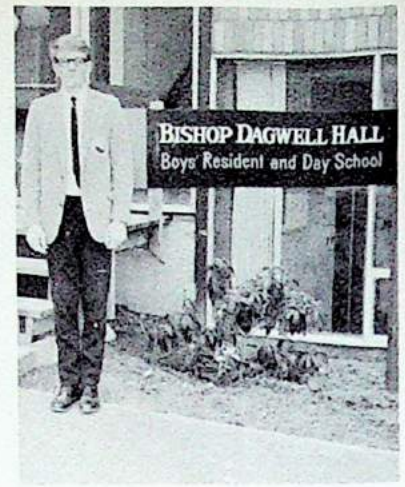

The class officers for this year were: Greg Dye, President; Dave Sessions, Vice-President; and Craig Honeyman, Secretary-Treasurer. When Greg withdrew after the semester Dave Sessions assumed the Presidency and Nick Peachy became our new Vice-President. The class's Student Counsel Representatives were Dan Driscoll and John Flowerree.

Growing with the number of students were the activities sponsored by the class. Last year a carnival was the big event. This year it was the Junior-Senior Prom, one of the most important of all campus activities. Most of our attention this year was devoted to this formal dance which involved almost half the high school. The President appointed a special committee to aid in preparation for the Prom. Most of our income derived from the Junior Class Store located in the dormitory.

In all our endeavors this year, we have received excellent help from our advisor Mr. Craigmiles who insured that the class was run well.

As Juniors we look forward to our Senior year when we will take the responsibility of school leadership.

CLASS OF 1969

The 1966-1967 Sophomores have fulfilled their purpose of establishing the traditions set up by their predecessors. We have also tried to establish several of our own.

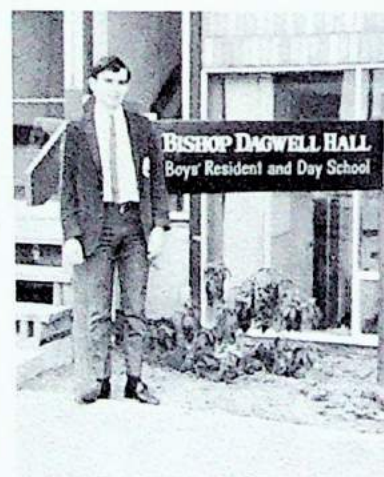

In all of our varied activities this year, we have been fortunate to have strong class unity and good leadership. Our class advisor Mr. Chase has been working very hard with our class to ensure a successful year for all of us. Because of this effort our class was able to produce a very successful Sophomore Carnival which was followed by an equally successful Weight-Guessing Contest. Not only were both of these activities enjoyed by all of the Student Body, but they also added a lot to our class treasury.

Our main objectives in all of our activities are not so much for the class but more for the improvement and enthusiasm of the entire school. We hope that next year we can contribute even more to BDH's success.

CLASS OF 1970

This year's Freshman Class consisted of members from Oregon, Washington, and California. The class officers were: Chris Smith, President; R. L. McFarland, Vice-President; Ken Sakai, Secretary - Treasurer; and Student Counsel Representative, Kim Smith.

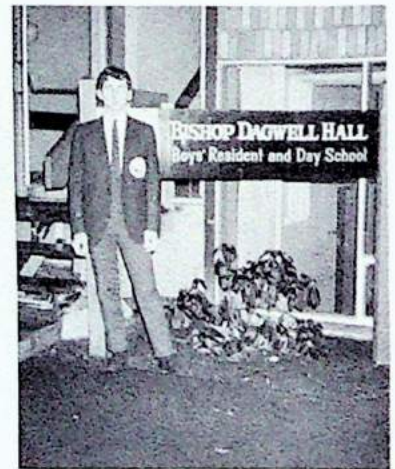

The Class is proud to have eleven members who scored ninety per cent or better on the National Education Development Tests. Also, the class boasts the Photography Editor of both the newspaper and the yearbook. The class sponsored a transistor radio raffle contest that brought financial rewards to the class treasury. The Freshman Class has contributed more than its share of varsity athletes and has one soccer letterman, two basketball lettermen, and three wrestling lettermen.

The purpose of the Student Council as stated in the Student Constitution is "...to provide a forum for student expression..." and that is what we have done throughout the school year. We have been the sounding board for Student opinion of rules, conditions, and all aspects of student life on the campus. The Council consists of a president, vice president, secretary-treasurer, and two representatives from each class and from the Day Boy Organization and one representative from the 7th and 8th grades.

The Council has sponsored several money-raising projects this year. Some of these projects were continuations of projects instigated by last year's Council, such as the annual candy sale. The over-all sales were down slightly from last year, but there was still a sizeable profit. A side benefit, and something new introduced by this year's Council into the sale was the incentive of ten per cent of the profits to go to the class that sold the most candy. This added a good deal of spirit not only to the classes, but also to the entire Student Body.

Several new things have been accomplished by this year's Student Council, the best of which is the Student Book Store. The Paperback Book Store, owned and operated by the Student Council has proved itself to be a major addition to the campus. The store has been highly successful in keeping everyone well armed with books. All kinds of books are sold, covering thousands of topics, from war to art, from Aristotle to Aerospace. Almost every kind of paperback is available on the shelf, or through special order, creating not only a versatile, but also economical book store for all.

This year has been a year of growth and development for the Student Council. For their cooperation, concern, and contributions of time and help, I would like to thank Mr. Colberg, our student council Advisor, and Mr. Chase, and Mr. Burke.

DAY BOY ORGANIZATION

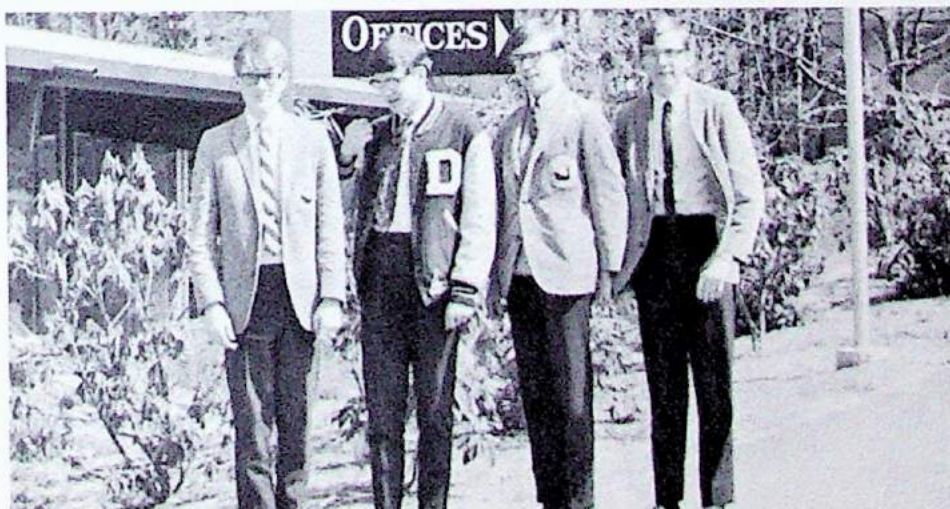

Officers - S. Hazelett, J. Augsburger, C. Honeyman, D. Sessions, C. Nash

The Day Boy Organization, first established during the school year of 1965-1966, was set up with the purpose of getting the day students of Bishop Dagwell Hall involved in school affairs. The Organization aims at better cooperation between day and resident students in most aspects of school life, such as Student Council, social functions and other student body activities.

The Day Boy Organization is run through a president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer. Each of the grades sends a representative to this council much as they do to the Student Council. The organization's main business is carried out in weekly meetings which involve all day boys.

A Day Boy Organization is a necessary part of any school such as B.D.H. Its role in school affairs is determined only by the interest shown. With more than half of the students being day boys, this should be a major organization.

Monitors - D. Sessions, S. Hazelett, J. Augsburger, C. Honeyman.

MONITORS

The choice of Monitors is made before the school year begins. The Dormmasters meet with the Administration to choose the four Monitors that each wants to assist him in running their dormitories.

During the first week of school, the Monitors, Dormmasters, and Administrators hold a meeting to outline the responsibilities to the Monitors. Their duties are not confined to the dormitories, as they are responsible for proctoring most of the study halls. Also during the meeting a Monitor Captain is elected. His duties are to coordinate the duty schedules for weekend duties, study halls, etc., and act as liason between the Monitors and the Administration. This year the Monitor Captain was Bill Marshall, his assistant was Dick Mackey.

Last year BDH had only two dormitories and consequently only eight Monitors. This year, because of the new dormitories and the addition of four day boy Monitors, the total number of Monitors increased to twenty. Also this year the duties of the Monitors were increased to include taking Chapel and lunch attendance, answering the switchboard on weekday nights, directing weekend workcrews, in addition to their dormitory responsibilities and proctoring of the study halls.

Of prime importance last year and this year were the student monitored study halls. For two years the Monitors have displayed maturity by accepting the responsibilities of leadership in this area.

The amount of respect held for each individual Monitor is determined only by that Monitor's standard of conduct and effectiveness in his job. It is a credit to the Monitors that the chance to hold a Monitors position is desired by almost all students.

BISHOP DAGWELL HALL

VOL. 2, N

Bill Marshall, George Critchlow, Denny Crafton, Chuck Reynolds and Doug Gonyea

This is the first year that BDH has boasted a regularly published newspaper. Although our schedule planned for six issues we only managed to publish four. This is not due to any lack of spirit however. Our staff, eighty per cent of which was composed of Seniors, was forced during mid-year, to temporarily surrender their newspaper work to provide more time for academic work. But we were back in April and May with two outstanding editions.

Our papers were highlighted by faculty interviews, flaming editorials on school spirit, brilliant social views by George Critchlow, and witty columns on school secrets by Denny Crafton.

Our paper also covered special features ranging from a Mountaineering Club Expedition to a parody on Open House.

The underlying purpose of our paper was to report all aspects of school life comprehensively with interesting and witty on the scene reporting.

That this, the first Bishop Dagwell Hall Yearbook, should even appear in final printed form is a pleasant surprise to many people, some of whom are shown on these two pages. Led, urged on, and frequently coerced by John Swanson and Bob Ruben, the staff and its helpers have succeeded in a yearbook that will set the standards of yearbooks to come.

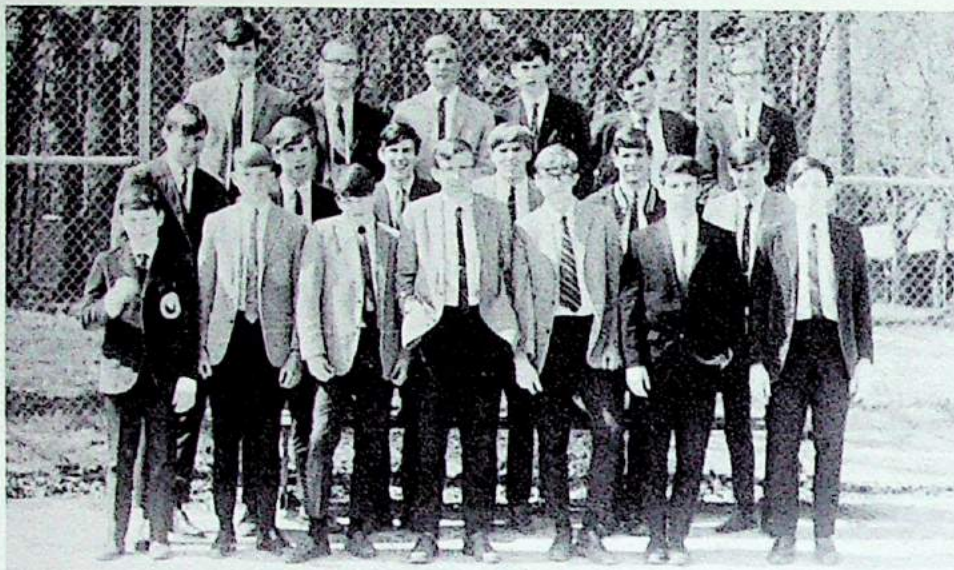

The Organum is a result of turning loose a certain number of students in John's room with an equal number of typewriters, stockpiling the room with strategically placed reams of paper, and announcing that there were about ten hours to go before the deadline. Somehow, probably by the magic of John's organization, everything fell into place perfectly.

Everyone, from Photographer Doug Gonyea to the unfortunates living in the room next to John, cooperated beautifully to produce this first edition of the Organum. Doug's artfully done pictures cover every aspect of BDH life, often with such candidness that many people are prompted to compliment him for his ability to get people to pose so naturally. Recognition is also merited by that group of peripheral staff members, sometimes known as Mother's Little Helpers, who mysteriously materialized with typewriters in tow, offering to do the last minute typing. Without these people the job (and it was) would certainly have been more difficult. To the advertising staff goes a note of thanks and encouragement for next year. And to all of the people, students, teachers and interested and concerned people from outside the school, the staff would like to extend its gratitude.

So, after months of concentrated effort, here is the first Yearbook of Bishop Dagwell Hall.

One of the biggest events at B.D.H. is skiing. The Ski Club was formed to better organize student participation and to promote skiing outside the regular schedule.

The several extra trips that the club did organize were quite successful, but perhaps the biggest activity of the club was the staging of the second annual ski day. Held at Mt. Hood, the races were more noted for their comical aspects than their decisive outcomes. The object was to have fun and the skiers certainly accomplished that.

Dan Driscoll as president and Craig Honeyman as vice-president have done as effective a job as possible. Father Griesel, the club's advisor, keeps the meetings organized and orderly.

The fact that the club's activities were limited this year does not indicate that a ski club has no place at B.D.H. Expansion of the club next year could mean a ski team and also overnight ski excursions. There is a bit of madness in every skier; the ski club seems to consolidate this madness into an overpowering force.

The Mountaineering Club at Bishop Dagwell Hall was formed by a group of enthusiastic students who wanted a chance to have organized outings. The Club received its charter early in the first school year (1966) and organized several trips, including a rock climb of Little Cougar Rock in the Columbia Gorge and a snow climb to the summit of Mt. Hood. The club was an obvious success as evident by this year's increase in membership.

The purpose of the club is to organize trips in a mountaineering spirit. Under the leadership of Mr. Gibbons, the club planned hikes, climbs, and ski tours in the Oregon-Washington area. These trips gave students a chance to get away from campus and enjoy the experience of high-level rock climbing, repelling down a cliff, putting on crampons in a storm or skiing across a long, wide snowfield up above the timberline.

Club officers this year were: Chuck Reynolds, president; Craig Honeyman, vice-president; and Steve Warren, Scribe-treasurer. After meticulously planning our first outing of the year to be a climb of Mt. Washington, a storm moved in that day, casting gloom on everyone's face, from the tallest officer to the smallest mountain climber. Luckily, though, Mr. Gibbons was prepared for this situation, and we changed our plans accordingly. Shortly, we were out of the storm and at work on the Smith Rocks with our ropes. Later in the year, the club also had a ski tour of Mt. Hood, starting at the 8500 foot level, continuing down through the snowfields to Paradise Park, and ending up on a woodland trail to Twin Bridges.

Other trips this year were a climb of Little Cougar Rock, a trip to Horsetheif Butte, and another attempt planned for Mt. Washington. The Mountaineering Club is one of Bishop Dagwell Hall's best clubs and has provided many enjoyable weekends for its members.

DANCES

PSYCHEDELIC

SENIOR DANCE

This year dances were not only frequent, but also frequented.

This leads, obviously, to the conclusion that the dances were successful. Not only was each dance different, but each one provided fun for everyone, each in a way slightly different from any other dance.

The Seniors began the year with what proved to be a dance that not only afforded live music, but also ample opportunity for people to mix. The stage was lit up by a light that was to prove quite popular - the oscillating "psych-light" in several colors.

In March, on "Fat Tuesday-become Saturday", the jointly sponsored Mardi Gras Dance proved that costume dances still are more fun than ever. Garbed in costumes ranging from the original to the occult, mysterious folk took immense delight in the opportunity to be something different. Judging by the fun and joviality that sparkled throughout, it is apparent that this will become an annual event.

All of the campus hippies gathered in the once-dining hall in April to celebrate the SHH Sophomores' Psychedelic Dance. This Compleat Psychedelic Experience came with a light show and posters to add to the happening.

So, of all these and more, it is apparent that a choice of the best would be more than difficult. All of these dances provided everything necessary to make a dance successful, a point which everyone will agree on.

MARDI GRAS

SENIOR SLAVE SALE

The largest single money-making project of the year was undertaken by the Senior Class in an effort to bolster their drained coffers. Thus, The first Annual Senior Slave Sale was born. This mighty event occurred in early November, due mainly to the impending Senior sponsored dance and prospects of bankruptcy.

As a result of their popularity among the bidding underclassmen, the Seniors acquired a sum in excess of one hundred dollars. The bids ranged from a low of five dollars to a high of eighteen dollars for the biggest Monitor of them all - Tim Wallace. The bids flew thick and fast through the heat of the study hall, as underclassmen plotted and schemed their one day revenge. When everything finally came to an end, everyone agreed on the success of the Slave Sale.

The Sophomore Carnival was held in the Common Hall of the St. Helen's Hall Lower School and in the covered play area adjoining the Common Hall. The action started at seven on the evening of Saturday, November 4, at the various booths where one could win prizes by breaking balloons or throwing a tiddly-wink into a colored spot, knocking over milk bottles with baseballs, or throwing darts at playing cards; or there were goldfish to win by tossing a ping pong ball into a small goldfish bowl.

The door prize drawing started some excitement at 9:15 as the Carnival drew to a close. The first number drawn won a large picnic basket and the second number won a big tigerskin rug, with the head intact. But the big attraction was the sponge throw, where, for two tickets, one was granted the privilege of clobbering Greg Daugherty, and later Steve Peel, with a big wet sponge.

At 9:30, the action moved to the Upper School Dining Hall, where "The Roades End" supplied the beat for the big crowd dancing and resting their feet. At 11:30, the magnificent evening came to its conclusion, and everyone abandoned the Dining Hall for the comforts of the dorms and home.

CHRISTMAS 1966

All was well at school even though winter never blessed our campus with a layer of snow. The calendar said Christmas, and everyone joined in the pursuit of the true Christmas spirit. To gain this goal all dorms were brightened with trees, decorations, and many happy faces.

On the night before Christmas vacation all the boys mysteriously stopped packing their suitcases. They all filed out of the dorms to greet the crisp night air. An annual tree had been planted and was to be dedicated over some cheerful hymns and inspired organ playing. Following the brief ceremony, there were some crisp cookies and spicy hot apple cider to help satisfy that everpresent yearning in every young man's stomach. Having been well dined and contented, the boys relaxed in the warmth of a fire. Later, they all returned to their dorms, carrying these warm memories in their hearts, which caused all to sleep in heavenly peace.

Thanks to Bill Marshall and Chuck Reynolds, BDH will always have a tree to carry Christmas cheer from year to year.

SKI DAY

On Thursday, March 16, Bishop Dagwell Hall's ski club sponsored the second annual Ski Day. Students were fortunate in receiving a day off from studying to participate in the event.

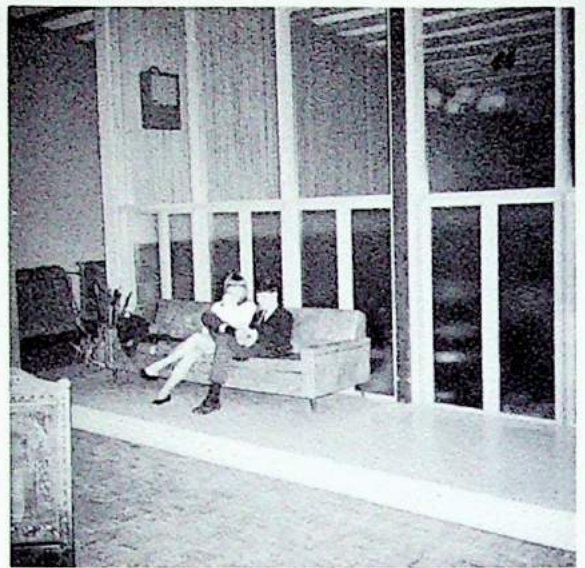

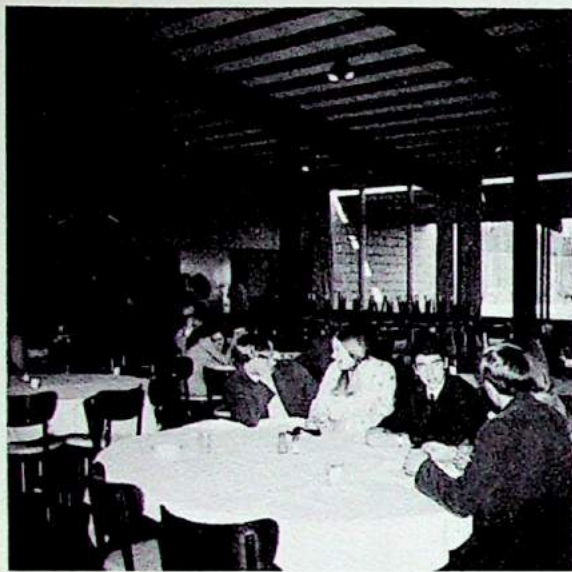

The highlight of the day was the giant slalom race held on the T-Bar hill. Each racer ran according to his skill in one of three classes: expert, intermediate, and beginner.

The beginner race, run on the lower half of the course, was won by Kevin Magenis with Dave Sessions as runner-up. Intermediate and expert racers ran the entire length of the difficult course. Among the intermediates, the winner was George Critchlow with second place going to Steve Haessler. Jim Hill -- combining with George Critchlow to help curb all doubt as to the skiing ability of the Tri-City boys -- walked away with first place in the expert division followed by Bill Courter. First place winners in all divisions were given a five dollar gift certificate from the Mt. Shop.

The Ski Day was a tremendous success and all BDH skiers are looking forward to next year's event with the hope that St. Helen's Hall students may also participate in the fun.

SOCIAL HOUR

Every evening after dinner the students of both BDH and SHH have the opportunity to gather and socialize in either the Great Hall or, on nice days, in the tennis courts. There they may participate in a casual game of tennis or ping-pong, or if they would rather, simply relax while indulging in the art of conversation. These occasions are properly chaperoned and conducted in an orderly manner, and they help create fond relationships which will be remembered for years to come. Conversations consist of such profound statements as, "I am NOT pudgy, George!" or "What do you mean I'm not a gentleman?" Then there are those who sit in a daze while staring into each others' eyes and alternate in saying, "Carrie...Denny...Carrie...Denny." It is during these social reunions that students practice and learn proper social conduct, a factor that will be extremely important in their future.

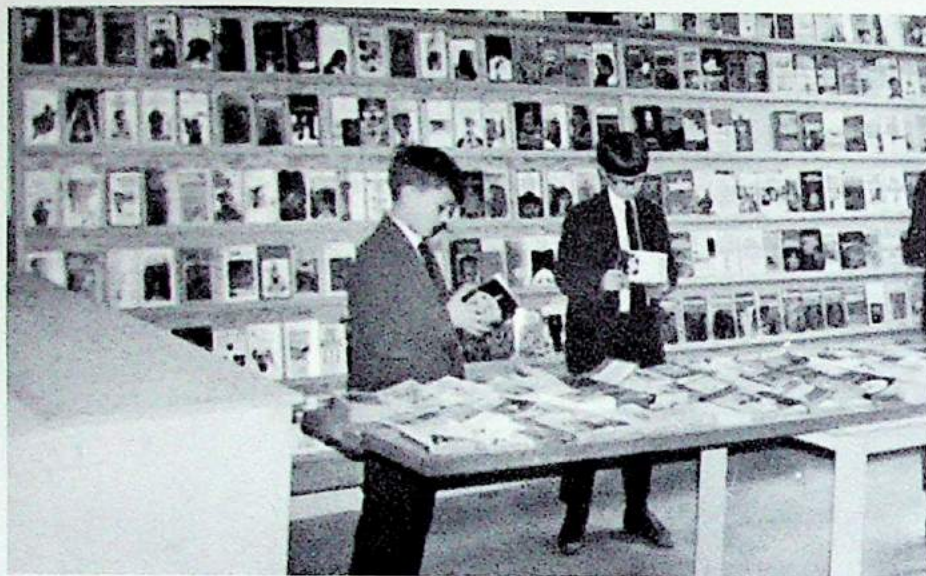

DINING ROOM

Dinner meant various things to students this year; the milk you spilt on your new sportcoat, the dishes you broke clearing the table or perhaps the stimulating conversations you had with dining companions. The relaxing atmosphere and cuisine was not always present but on the whole Mr. Burns did an excellent job of putting on about two hundred dinners and parties for one-hundred-fifty students. Some of the gourmet highlights of the year were the various banquets that were held, Italian night before semester break and other special activities. Each Saturday night can be remembered for the great steaks that Bill Cooper cooked. Although complaints were frequently heard concerning the food, all students must agree that the food is far above average.

STUDENT BOOK STORE

At the beginning of the school year Mr. Colberg, the student council advisor, came up with the extraordinary idea of having a paperback book store. It was not until November that the student council was finally able to put the store into operation.

It has been a complete success ever since opening day. The store is run by members of the student council, and all profits are used for student body activities, such as movies and dances, and for additions to the store. A selling counter and book display have been built in the book store this year, and school supplies have been incorporated with the book store. Another progressive step was made when the girls of SHH were allowed to patronize the store.

The student council book store has been an interesting experience for all those involved. We hope that it may be as much of a success in the years to come.

JUNIOR STORE

When evening study hall is over seventh, eighth and ninth graders wait impatiently for the Junior Store to open. The lure of the soda pop, Look bars and Cracker Jacks overwhelm the boys and they descend to the basement of Mr. Clarkson's dorm.

The enterprising Juniors conspire to separate the boys and their allowances. Desperate pleas for credit are continually heard, but, alas, they fall on deaf ears.

By 9:45 everyone is well satisfied, especially the Juniors, having added a goodly sum to the class treasury.

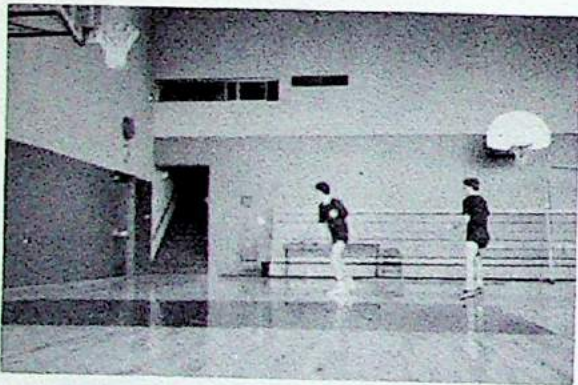

And later, during bed check, one can hear the boys saying, "Bless Mommy and Daddy and especially the Junior Store".

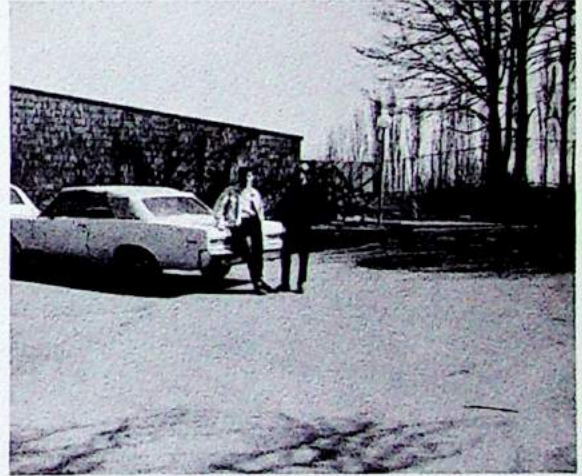

SENIOR STORE

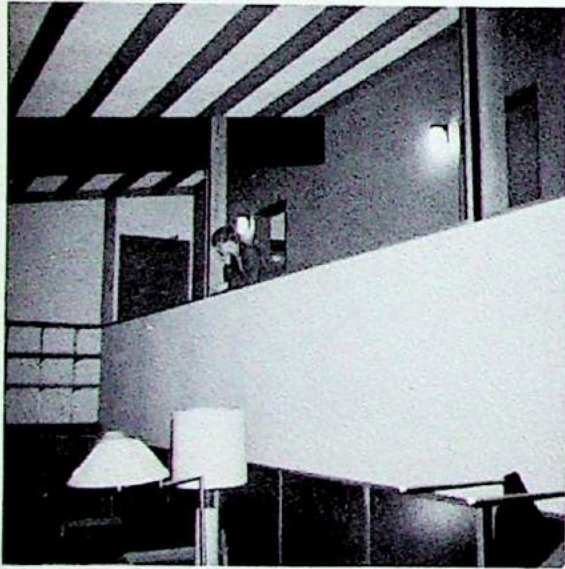

This year the pet project of the class of '67 has been the Senior Store. It consists of a candy concession where all students may buy soda-pop and choose from a large selection of items to satisfy each individual's "sweettooth." The money obtained from this concession is used to pay for the various Senior Class activities and, the ultimate goal, the senior gift. It has been very successful to the satisfaction of the seniors, and has enabled them to donate a sizeable quantity of books to the reference material in the combined SHH-BDH library.

Although our record was poor in respect to the percentage of wins to losses, our team played quite well, and they have every reason to be proud of their season.

Against high school competition, the Falcons had a record of two wins, two losses, and one tie, by splitting with Charles Wright Academy's Tarriers at Tacoma on a rainy, cold day. The Tarriers triumphed, but when they came down to Portland to play the Falcons at Delta Park they ran into a thundering herd of soccer players, instead of raindrops and puddles. The Falcons played what was probably their best game of the year by setting up George Critchlow and Stafford Hazelett to score three goals apiece and by keeping our goalie, Bill Lake, practically inactive. The Falcons dominated all but about six minutes of the game in their six to four triumph.

The first Catlin-Gabel game was held at BDH field, and the Falcons avenged their two losses to the Tigers last year by overpowering the visitors, three to one. The second game of the rivalry was played on the Catlin-Gabel field, and both teams fought hard to win, but it was a day for the goalies to shine, as the Falcons and Tigers struggled vainly to score. The final game of the year was the third Catlin-Gabel game, also played on the Tigers turf. The Falcons fought hard, but Catlin-Gabel prevailed, four to two. The final goal for the Tigers was scored with hardly a minute left, showing that the game was not sewn up early.

The Falcons did not fare well at all in competition with local colleges, as they split with Lewis and Clark, and lost to Oregon State University, Reed College, and the University of Oregon.

Next year the many returning lettermen should probably improve on this year's record, and we are sure that they will continue to give an outstanding performance every time they take to the field.

BASKETBALL

BDH Falcons ended up with a 4-13 record for their first year of varsity "B" league basketball. Due to the late completion of the gymnasium, the pre-season practice time was cut short. When the gym was finally finished it was being used from 3:30 to 5:00 by the wrestling team, 7th and 8th grade basketball team and St. Helen's Hall students so the practice space was very small. The varsity basketball team was forced to hold practice in the evenings to obtain adequate practice time and space.

The Falcons started out their season by playing Corbett High School, the eventual district champions, and lost. The high scorer of that game was Sophomore Steve McCray with 12 points. The second game with Corbett showed great improvement by the Falcons, but they lost after a great game. Tillamook Catholic was the next team to meet the BDH players. Showing much improvement over the previous games, the Falcons 1st after fighting hard the entire game. The high point man for BDH was Jim Rear with 21 points. The second game with Tillamook was much closer with the Falcons losing by only 5 points. The next team to play the Falcons was Jewell, from the Coast range. The long trip by the Jewell team might have been a factor in the outcome of the game, which BDH won, but when the Falcons traveled to the coast, they showed that they still were the better team by winning rather easily.

For the next game BDH players traveled to Gaston Union High School. The result of this game was not very impressive, but when the Greyhound traveled to BDH campus we gave them a tough time by losing in an over-time by four points. The top scorer was Steve McCray. The next game was with the school rival from across town, Catlin-Gabel. The Falcons won two out of three games with the top men Steve McCray, and freshman Bill Lake. Portland Christian won both the games with BDH. The high point honor was shared by two players. Senior Jim Rear and Sophomore Bob Love, with 8 points.

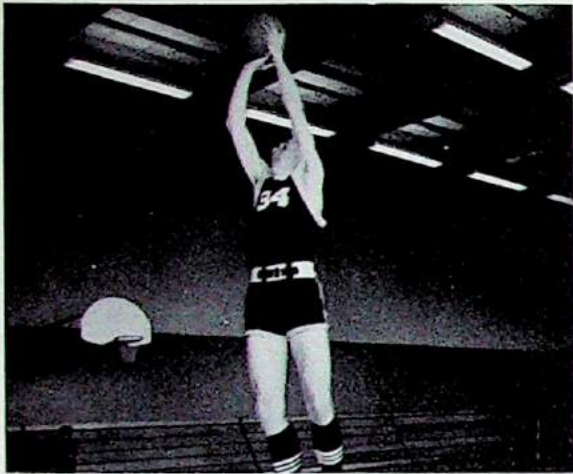

Columbia Christian was probably the fastest and quickest team that the Falcons came up against. The BDH boys dropped the first game by 5 points. The second game was Columbia Christian all the way with the Falcons having trouble getting together. The top scorer was Jim Rear with 21 points.

Knappa Knights was the last team BDH played, but the Falcons lost both of the games by a considerable margin.

Although the season was not one to boast about, a note of congratulation must be extended to the team and Mr. Craigmiles for never giving up.

WRESTLING 67

The 1966 -67 season was the first complete season for the BDH wrestling squad. In compiling a 1-8 record, the team won almost half of the individual matches. Hurting the team greatly was the loss of so many of the squad's best wrestlers, such as Jim Augsburg (123 lbs), who remained undefeated in his first six matches before sustaining injury. However, lack of experience probably hurt the team the most. The team, made up mainly of freshmen, took most of the season to learn the necessary fundamentals. By the end of the season the wrestlers had improved greatly, winning their first match with an impressive 19 - 14 victory over a strong team from Sherwood. With seven of the ten lettermen returning next year, the BDH wrestling program can look forward to greater and greater success in the years to come.

During the season many individual wrestlers built up impressive records. Probably the most outstanding wrestler on the squad was team captain Nick Peachy (191 lbs.). Nick placed first in many of the season's tournaments and represented the team in the District and State tournaments. Also instrumental in the team's success was returning letterman George Critchlow (148 lbs.). George showed much improvement and sparked the team with many important victories. Outstanding Freshmen wrestlers, who will surely lead BDH wrestling in the coming years, were Chris Smith (115) and Walt Sherman (unlimited). Other wrestlers deserving recognition were: Trevor Brooke (106), Ed McLean (123), Dick Mackey (130), John Floweree (136) and Carl Nash (178).

Mr. Wood had never coached novice lacrosse players before this year. This made forming a lacrosse team especially difficult. There was however, a great desire by many boys to excel in this sport and because of the spirit, Bishop Dagwell Hall was able to field a team against Catlin Gabel. Lacrosse's rough play and intense physical exercise proved to be no barrier to our athletes.

Lacrosse is a sport just beginning to spread throughout the Western United States. As a new sport at BDH it shows definite signs of becoming one of the school's stronger sports.

Top Row: M. Hazelett, R. Carpenter, B. Westland, J. Hill, N. Peachy, W. Sherman and Mr. Ross.

There is much to be said for the track team this year. Although the turnout was small, as compared to the other major sports, it was possible to cover all the major field events, and even though there were no sprinters, a strong long distance running team was formed. Training began the first of March, and it was necessary to overcome the handicap of the lack of proper facilities.

Yet, with all the difficulties, the team was able to compete in several tournaments, including an eight way invitational and an O.S.A.A. District meet. There was a lot of talent exhibited, but if for no other reason, the team did well because of their great spirit.

Bishop Dagwell Hall students enjoyed a much expanded golf program this year. Mr. Craigmiles arranged for the golfers to leave school at 2:30 in the afternoon three times a week in order to go to Progress Golf Course. The best golfer of the year was undoubtedly John Swanson who entered the District tournament.

Good weather and especially good golf made this year's activity extremely worthwhile. The best thing about this year's team was perhaps the great improvement of the members of the squad. BDH can look forward next year to a highly competitive golf team.

INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

The Intramural Football league was instituted by the athletic department to fulfill several specific functions. It was an attempt to increase participation by the students in an intramural program during a period in the school year when PE classes were not meeting due to gym construction, and when varsity competition for the fall had been completed.

The program provided an opportunity for all boys in the upper school to participate. About 50% of the student body took part regularly. The players appeared to enjoy themselves and the competition was good.

Special commendation should be given to George Critchlow and Jim Rear. George, as captain of the league winning team, demonstrated the leadership necessary to make any student-led program work. Jim could not participate in the game but appeared each day to pace the side-lines and direct his team to a second place finish.
