Lost Pair 'Stays Put'; Soon Located

Two Portland school girls who didn't relish being "babes in the woods" gypped the Mount Hood national forest out of a couple of possible victims Sunday by using their wits when they found themselves lost in the wilderness near Frog lake.

They are Marjorie Besson, 18, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. S. Besson, and Beverly Shaw, 17, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw, now safe at home none the worse for wear. A searching party found them early Monday morning.

Members of a picnic party at Frog lake, the two girls left the rest of the group about 4:30 p. m. Sunday for what was to be a half-hour hike. They soon discovered they were lost and scoured the woods until about 7 o'clock before finding a trail leading to Barlow camp.

Rather than risk losing their way again, the girls stopped at nightfall, about 8:30, and improvised a blanket of leaves. Meanwhile, a searching party had been organized at 8 p. m. under direction of Protective Assistant P. W. Dennis of Clackamas Lake station.

The girls heard the searchers about 1:30 a. m. and again showed their Girl Scout training had not been wasted by remaining where they were until forest men found them. They reached Barlow, three miles away, about 3 o'clock.

"We weren't really scared any time but it was kind of cold up there," Beverly said over a cup of steaming coffee at her mother's apartment, 2325 N. E. Flanders street. "We just had on shorts and halters and the leaves weren't very thick."

Both girls were graduated from St. Helen's Hall last month.

Again the MYSTIC ORDER OF GOBLINS summons you to a meeting;
Witches, ghosts and elves and sprites send a hearty greeting.
On Hallowe'en you must appear at quarter after eight
From seers and wise magicians you will learn your future fate.

Witches cast a mystic spell to make the black cats sing,
Listen to the hooting owl—watch the pumpkins gleam!
Ghostly figures to greet you—won't you come and take a chance?
A jolly time you're sure to have at our annual Hallowe'en dance.

October thirty-first is the date, be sure and not forget it!
If you miss our party, we shall both regret it.
It's the first one of the season and we'll have a lot of fun!
Please answer very quickly and say that you will come.

P. S. A chaperone must bring you, as we have said before,
And must come and get you when everything is o'er.
