Middle School Dedication

This year we have selected a special teacher. He has enlivened our lives with his humor. In our time of need he has helped us through our academic studies, yet still had time for fun. He always seems to be full of life and love, in a way that makes us appreciate him to the fullest. We the people of the Middle School are proud to dedicate our section of this yearbook to Father David Pace.

Upper School Dedication

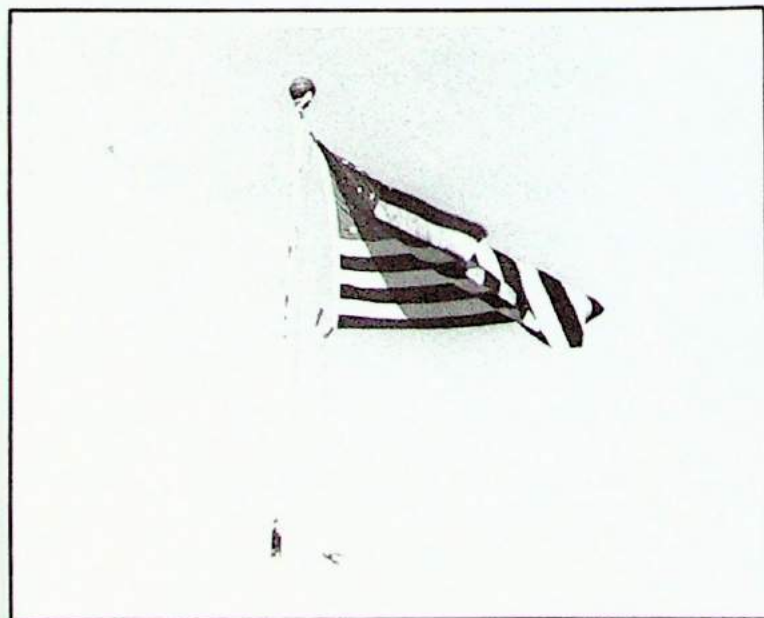

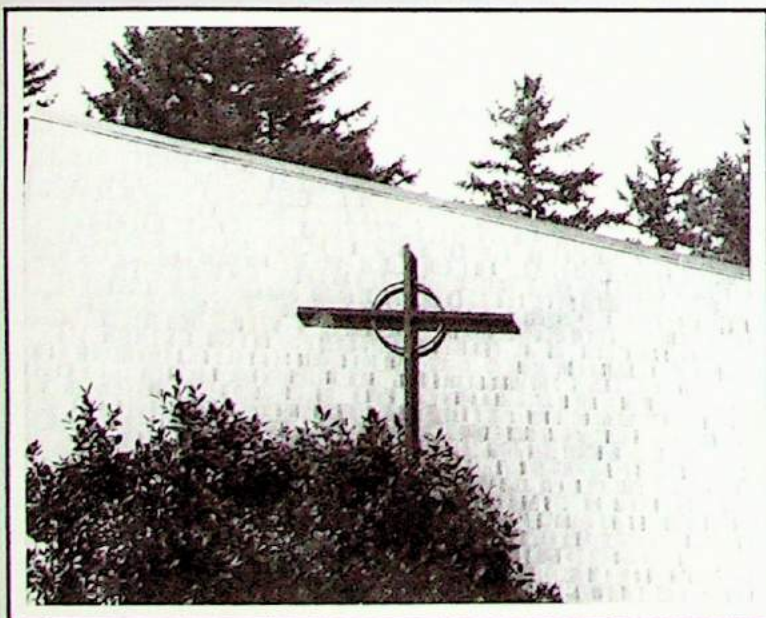

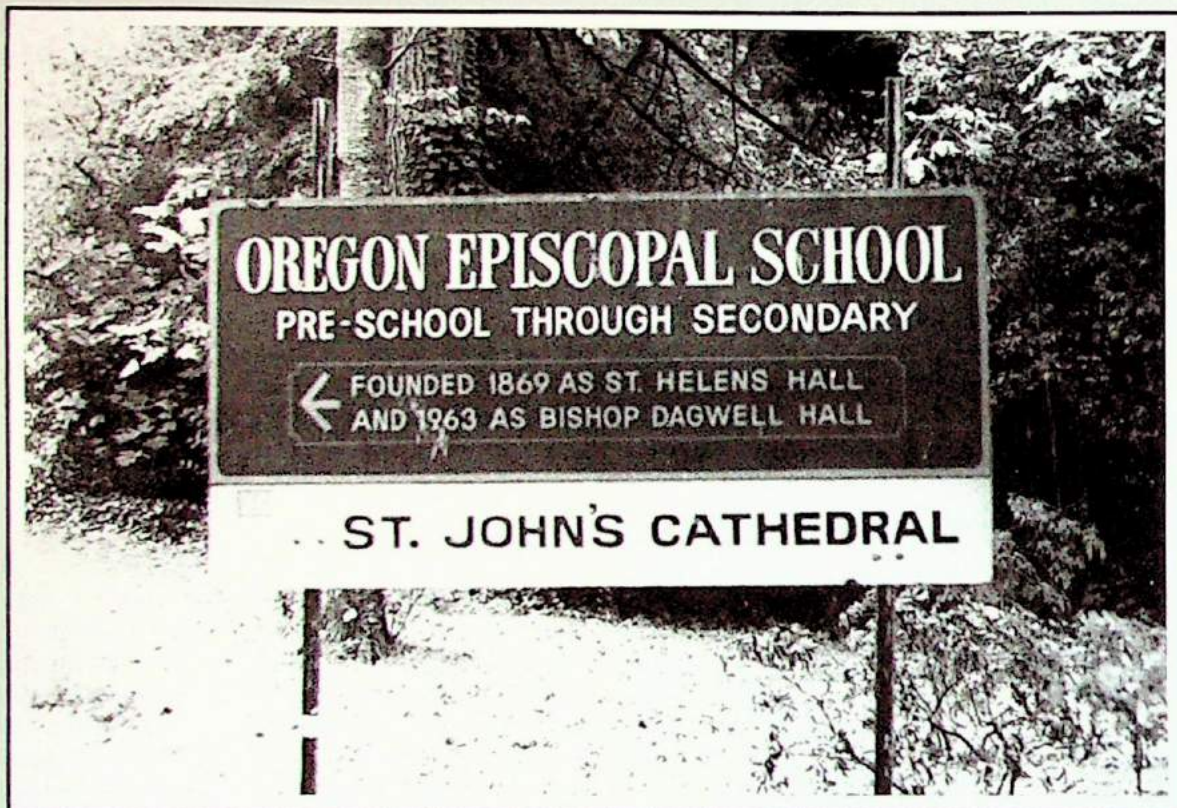

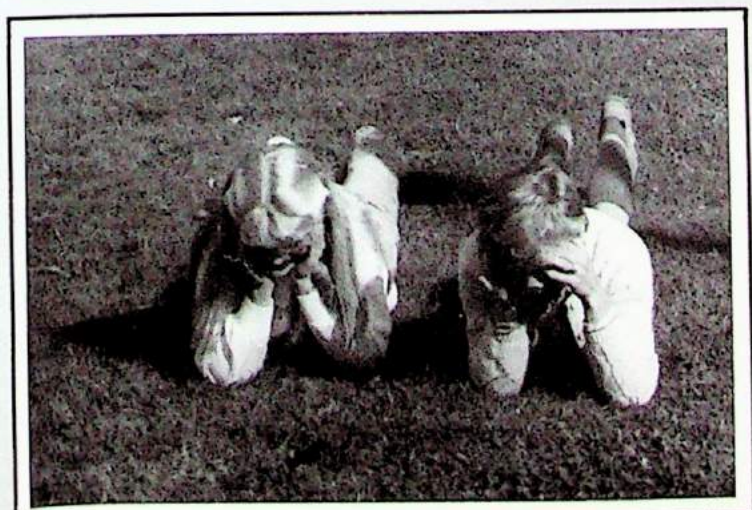

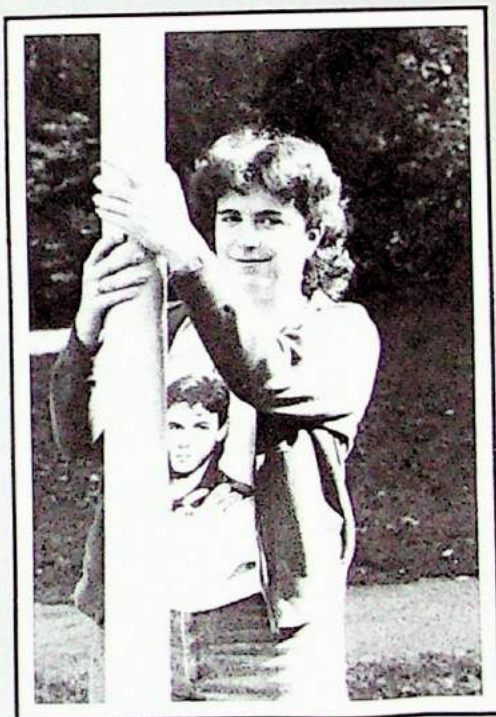

In deciding whom to dedicate this yearbook to, the Senior Class stood as one and voiced a single name. She has been our class advisor since freshman year at O.E.S., and at many times has been our sole motivator. From canned food drives and bake sales to guiding us to personal and academic growth, she has always given 100%, not to mention the hours spent in her office gossiping and solving personal problems. She is very knowledgeable in and shows great enthusiasm with all her classes. It is our hope that she will pick up next year's freshman class as she picked up us, and travel with them through their four years of high school. It is to you, Suzanne Blanchard, that we dedicate this yearbook. We wish you well. You will always be remembered.

This year the O.E.S. yearbook staff thought it would be interesting to compare George Orwell's predictions in his book "1984" with what has actually occurred at O.E.S.

Orwell portrays a negative utopia which destroys all the American ideals of freedom and peace.

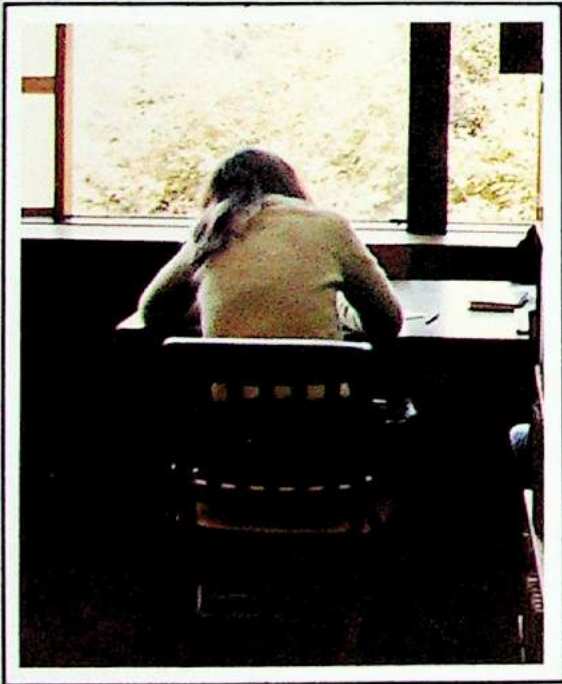

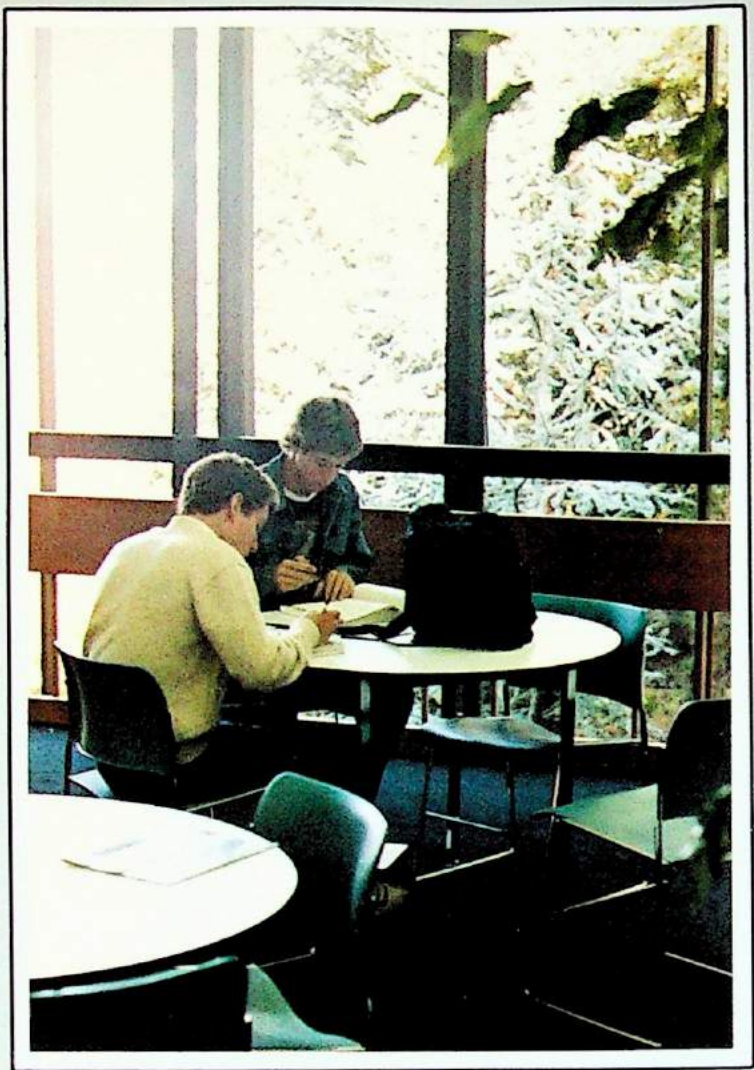

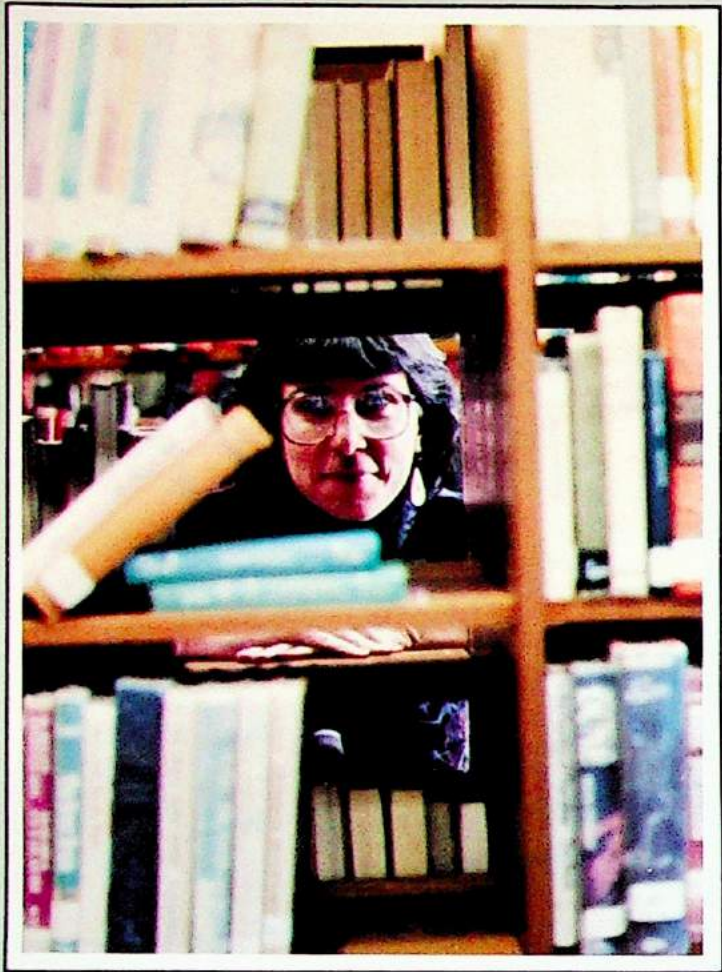

So here you are O.E.S., 1984 The Future Is Here.

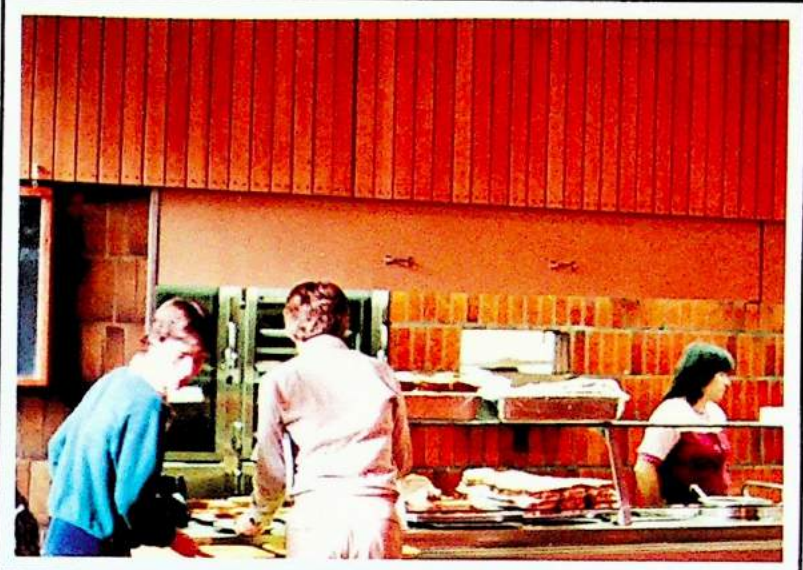

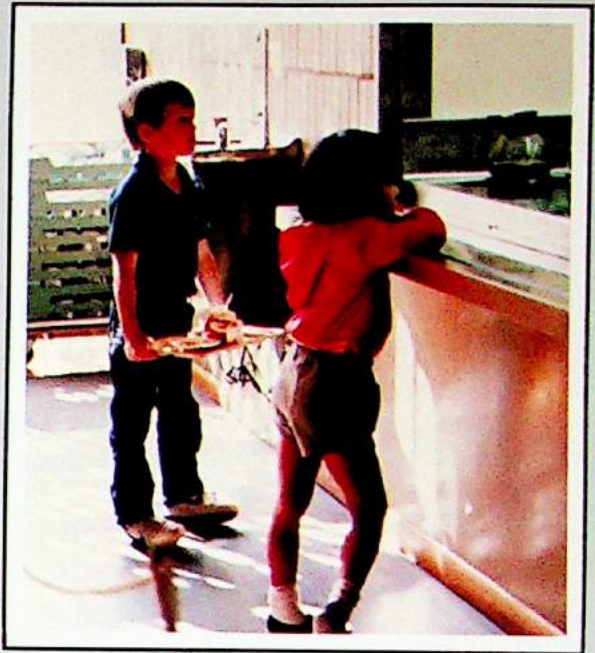

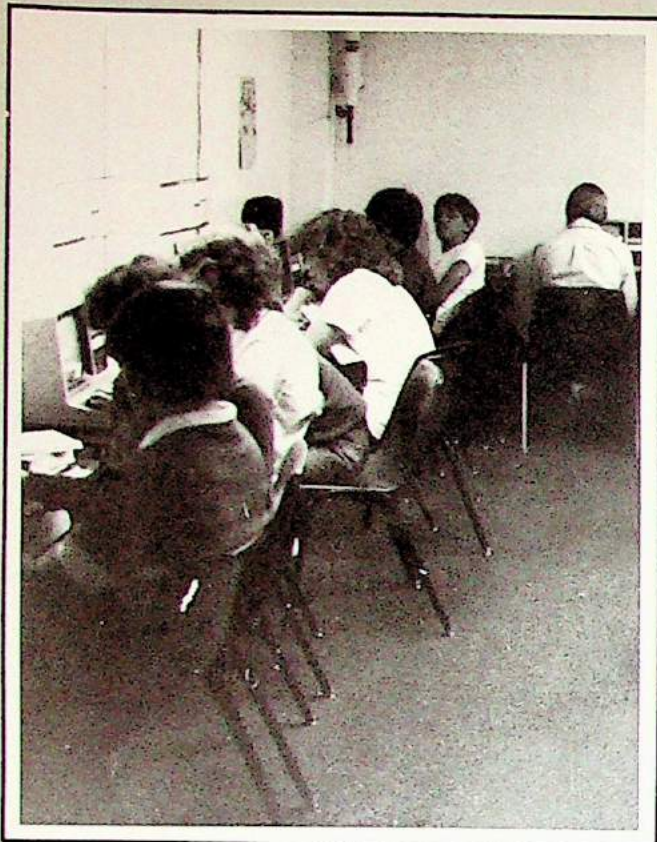

"The aims of these groups are entirely irreconcilable. The aim of the high is to remain where they are. The aim of the middle is to change places with the high. The aim of the low, when they have an aim - for it is an abiding characteristic of the low, that they are to be crushed by drugery to be more than intermitently conscious of anything outside of thier daily lives - is to abolish all distinctions and create a society in which all men shall be equal."

"There were armies of reference clerks whose chief job was simply to draw up lists of books and periodicals which were due for recall."

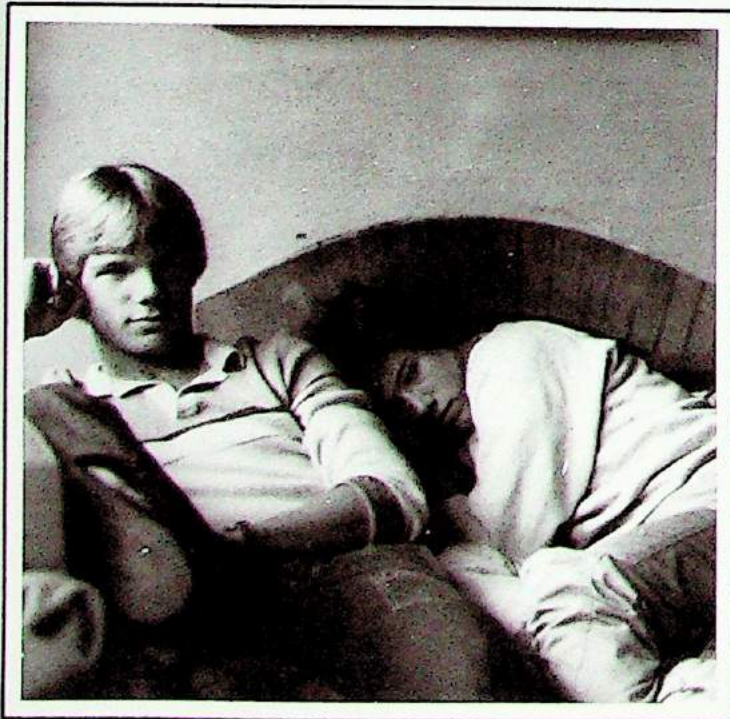

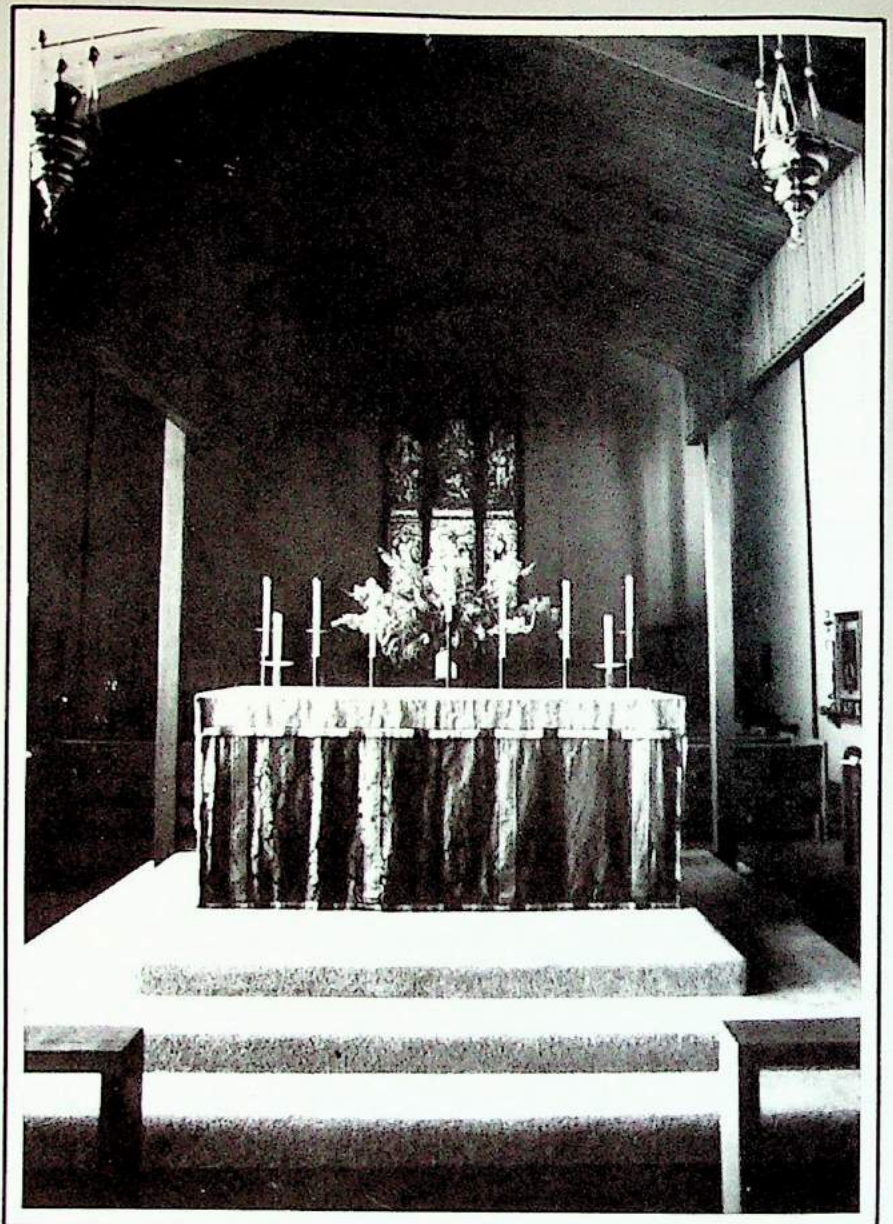

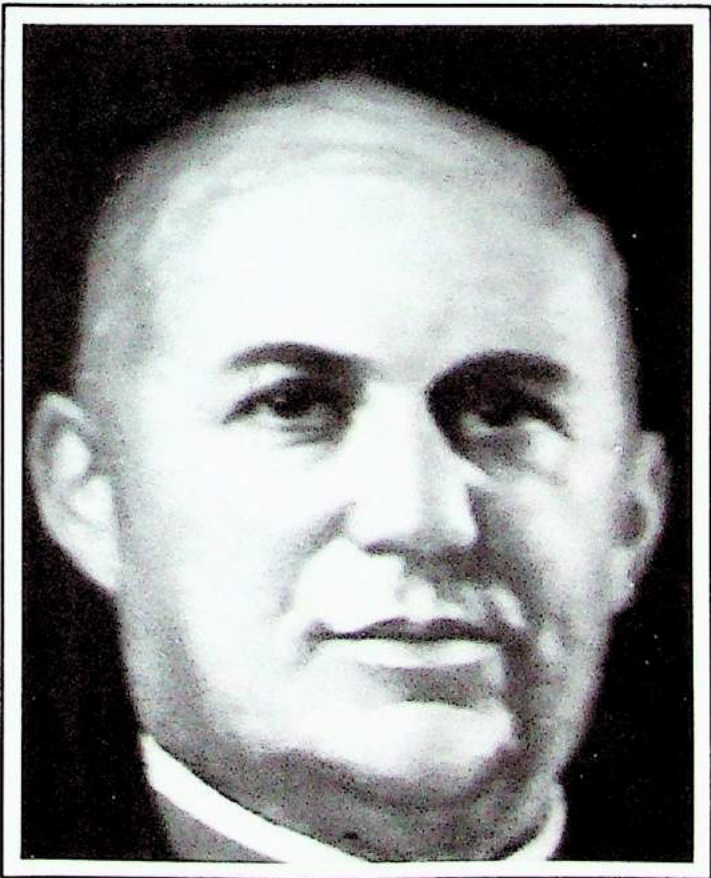

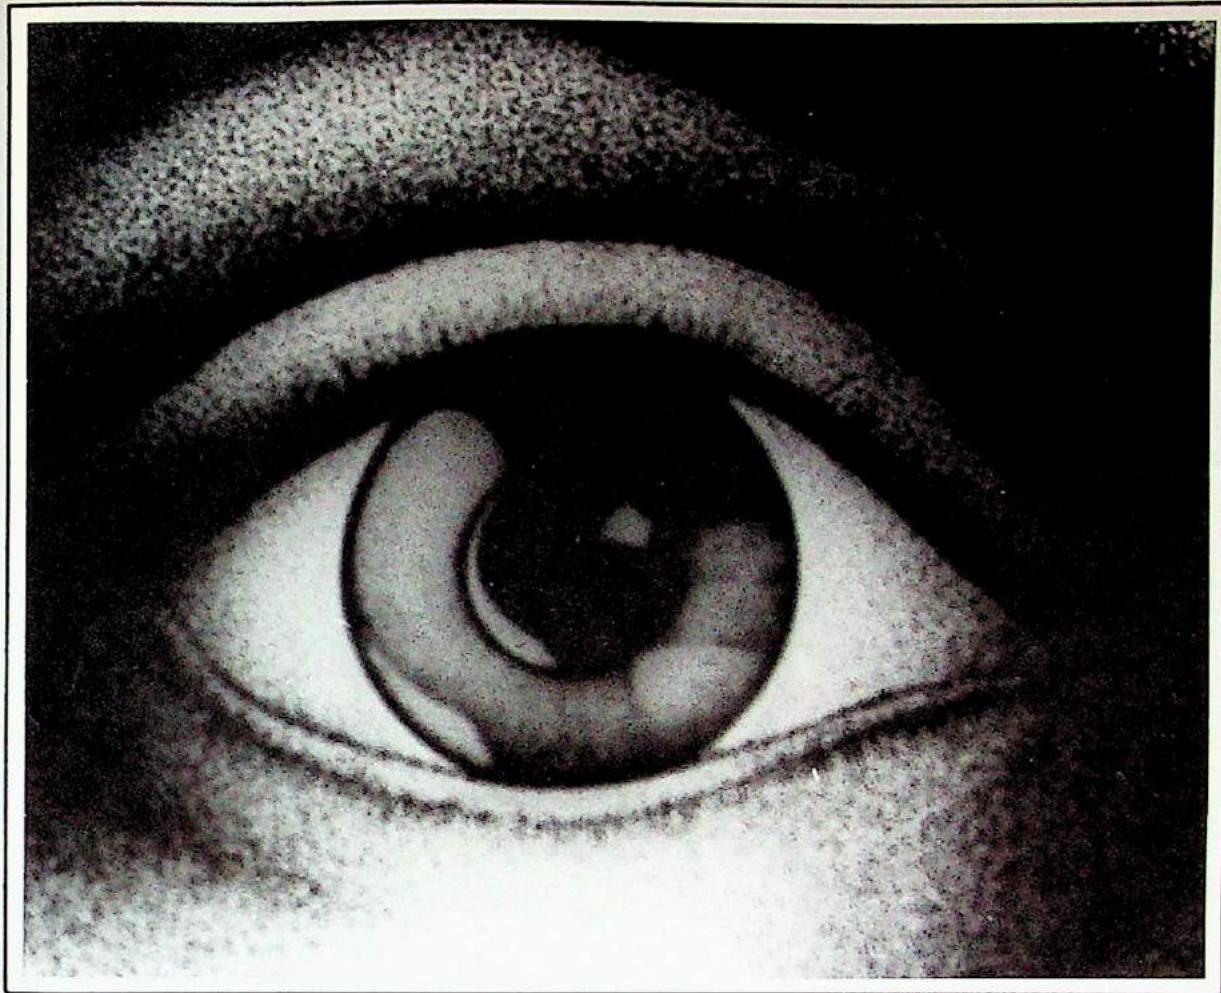

"The lunch queue slowly jerked forward. The room was already very full and defeatingly noisy. From the grille at the counter the steam of stew came pouring forth, with a sour metallic smell..."

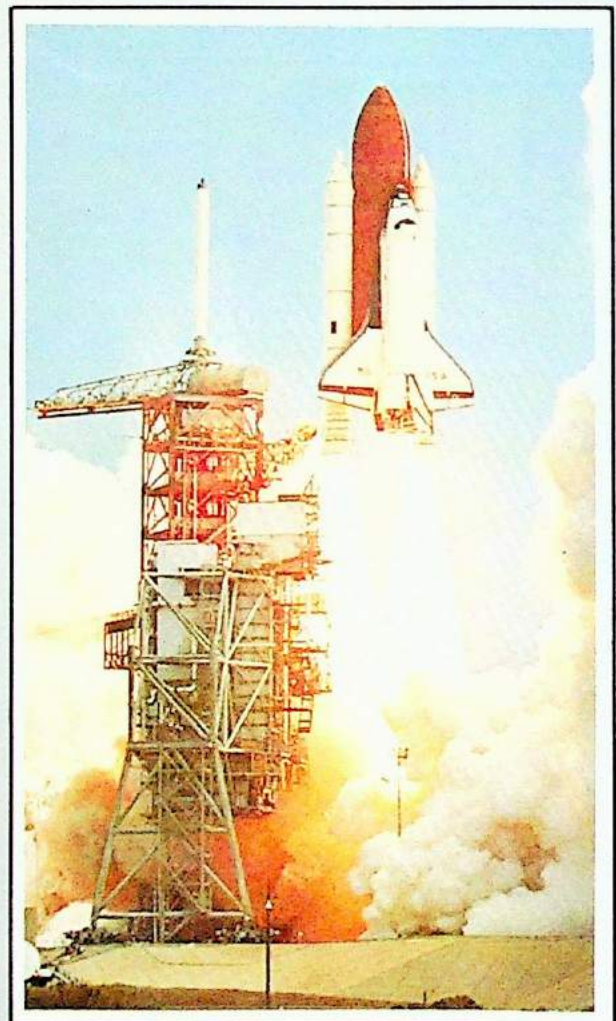

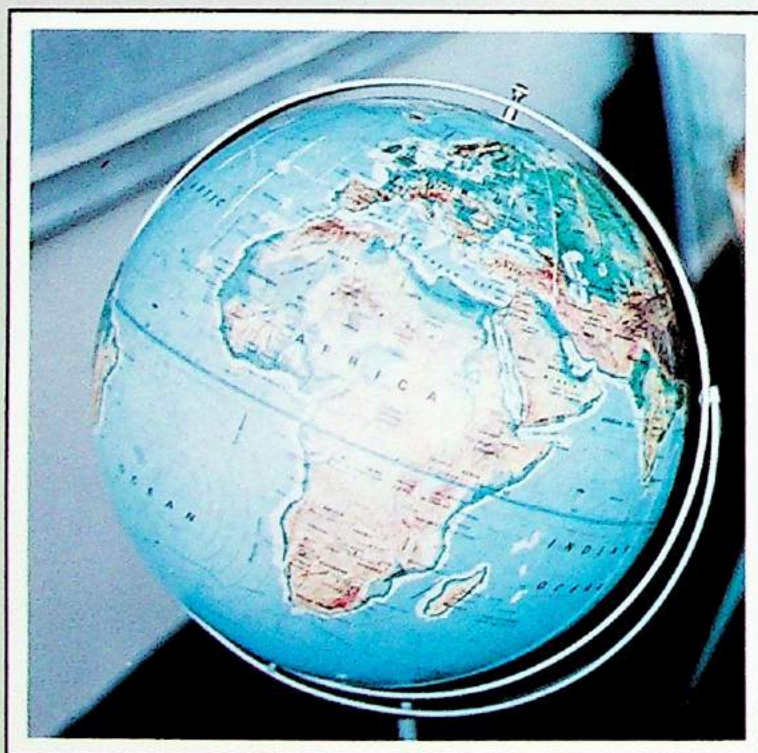

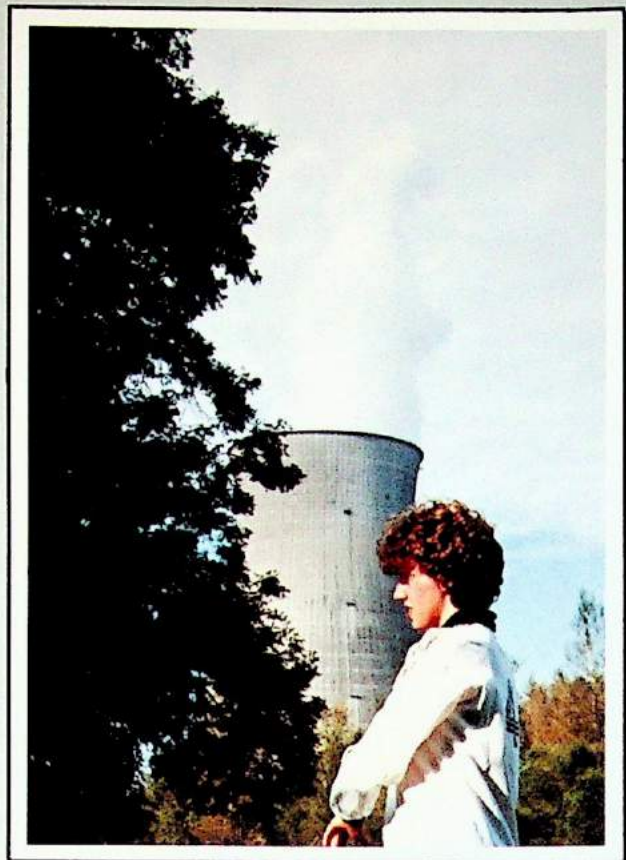

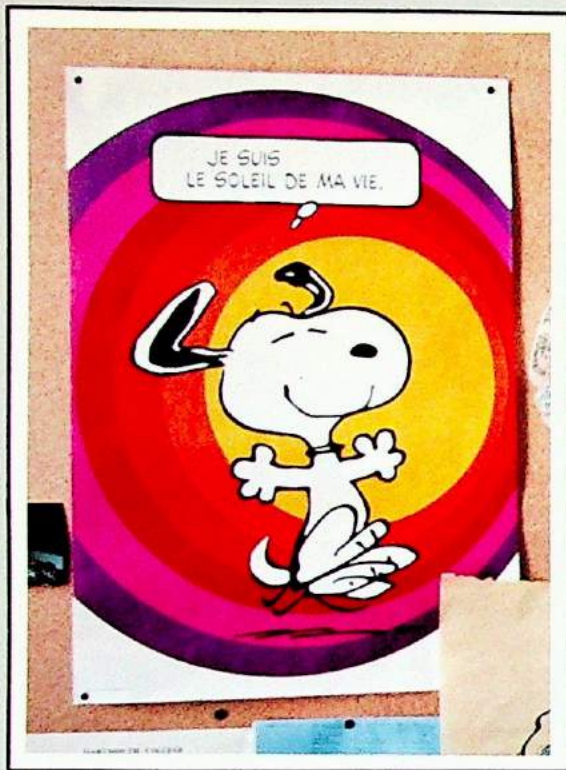

"The Ministry of love was the really frightening one, there were no windows in it at all."

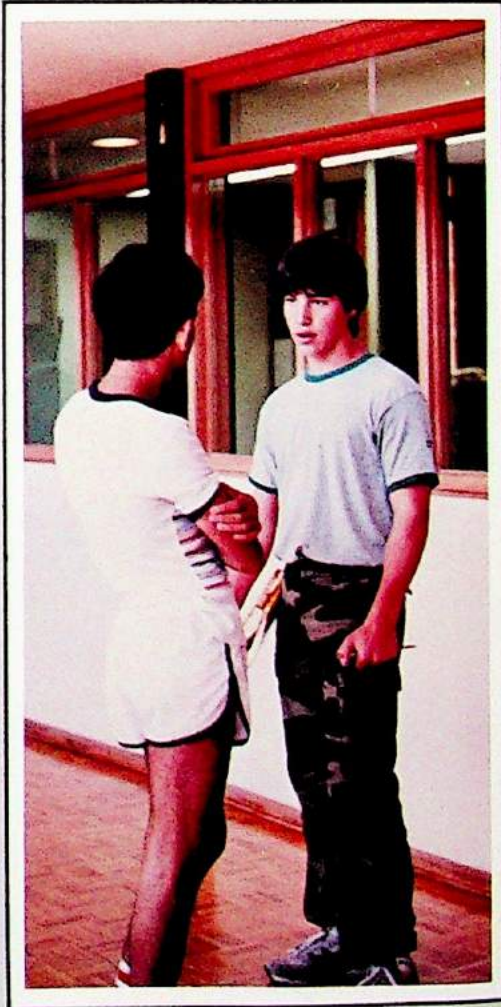

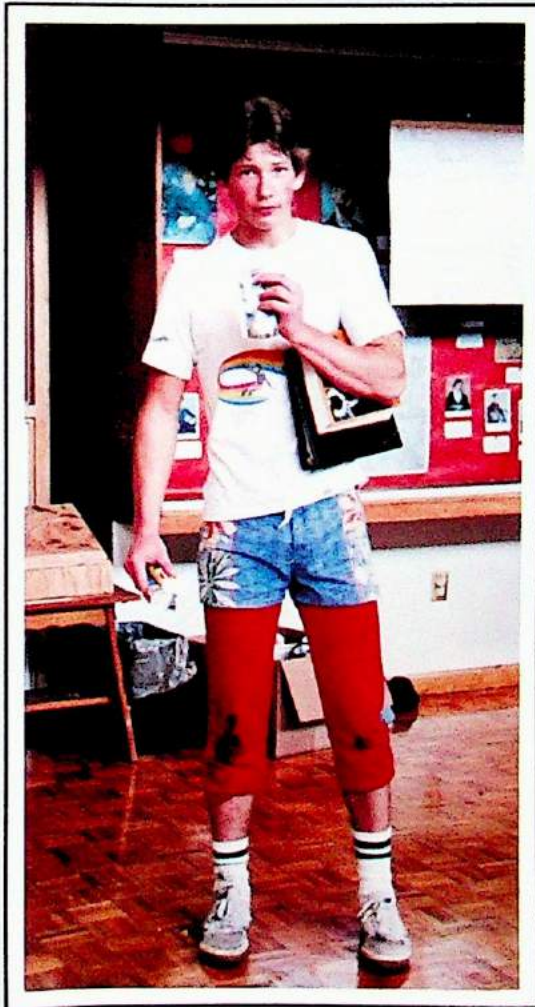

"It was one of those pictures which are so contrived That the eyes follow you about when you move."

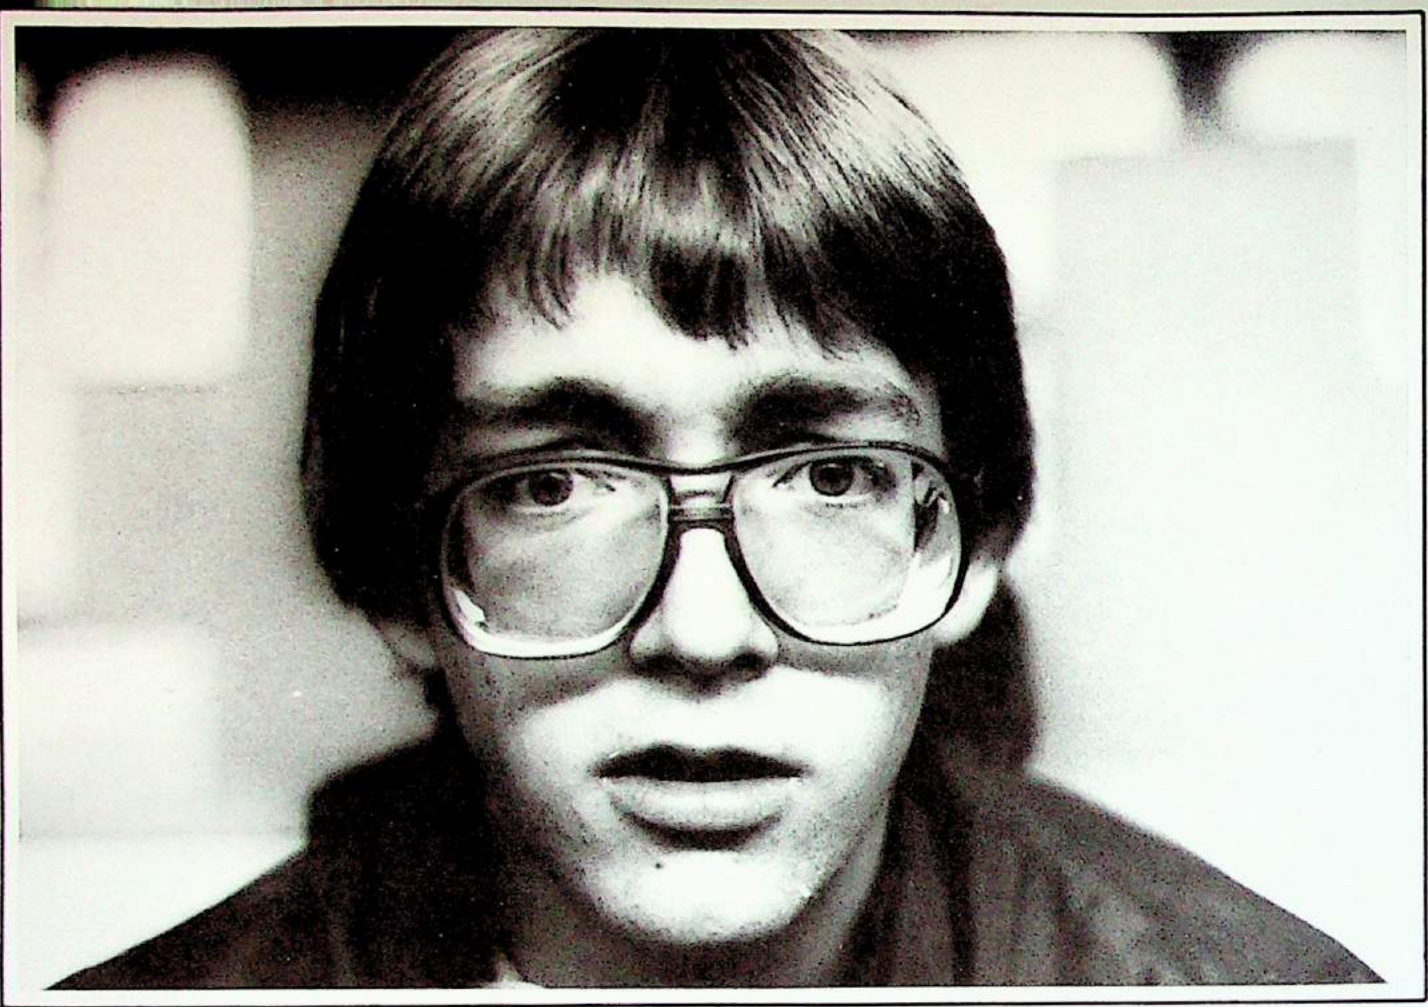

"The search for new weapons continued unceasingly,,"
There were two great problems which the Party is concerned to solve. One is how to discover, against his will, what another human being is thinking, and the other is how to kill several hundred million people in a few seconds without giving warning before hand."

"There are three stages in your reintegration," said O'Brian, "There is learning, There is understanding, and there is acceptance."

$$\frac{-b \pm \sqrt{b^2 - 4ac}}{2a}$$

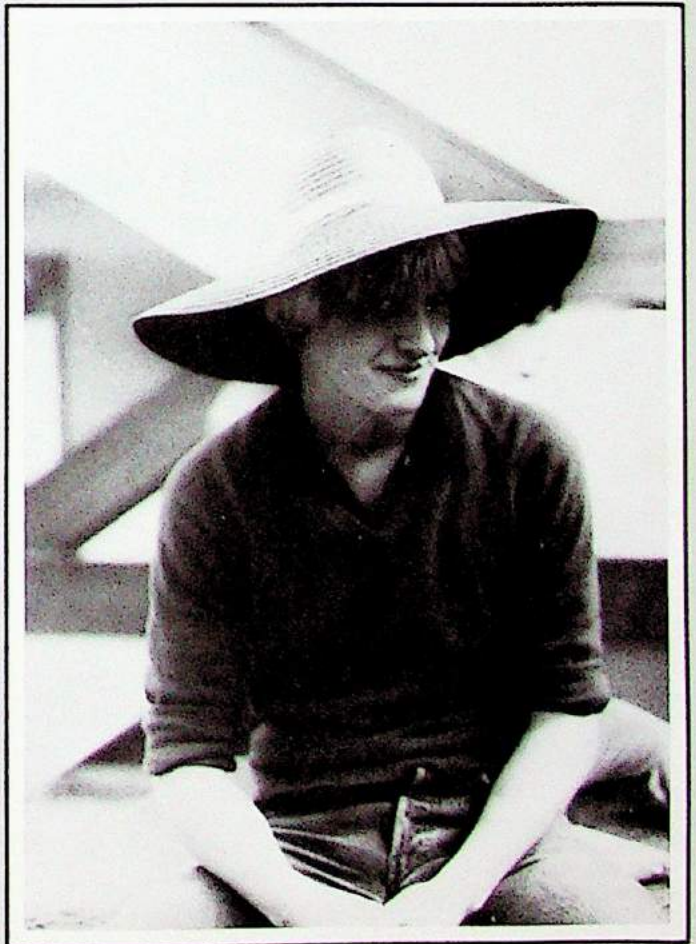

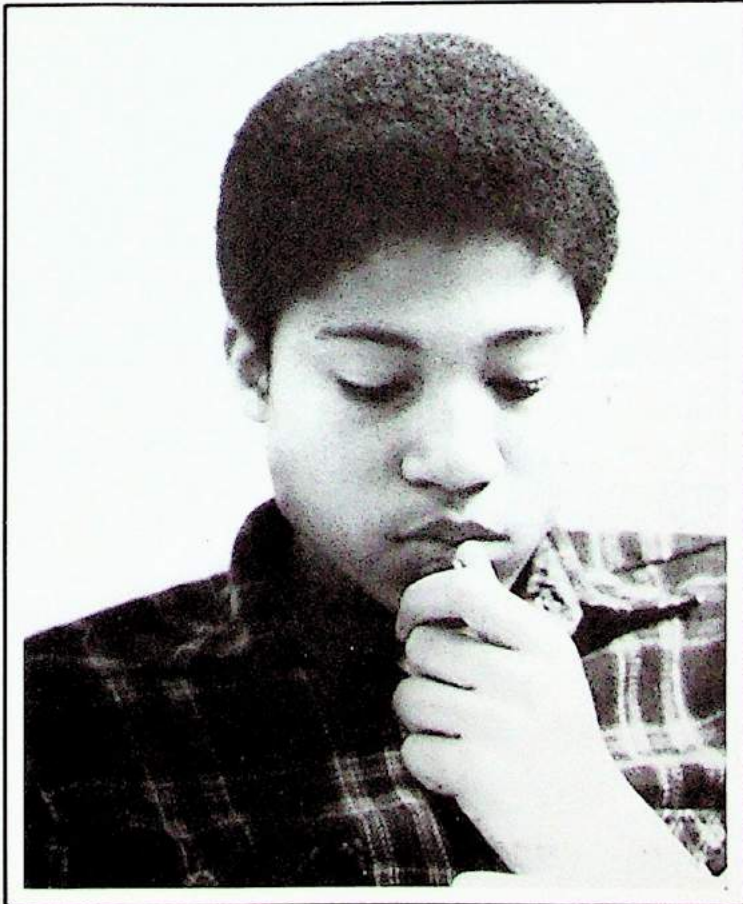

"The ultimate motives were mysterious. He took up his pen and wrote 'I understand HOW! I do not understand WHY!'"

For some time he sat gazing stupidly at the paper. The telescreen had changed over to strident military music. It was curious that he seemed not to merely to have lost the power of expressing himself; but even to have forgotten what it was that he originally intended to say.

"Big brother is watching you."

WESTWIND

Once again the 7th and 8th graders enjoyed the beautiful secluded coastal retreat, Camp Westwind, as a learning environment as well as fun moments shared with peers and nature. The glittering and warm sun, the shimmering water and the homey atmosphere all helped the students bear with the sticky pancakes, greasy hamburgers and watery ketchup! Their attained goal of community building was achieved through playful spontaneity and small group sessions.

1. Hi everybody! 2. Adele thinks she's so cool!! 3. These apples are just about the only edible things around! 4. Boy, we sure are hungry! 5. It's nice to be going home. 6. Anxiously waiting to cross the water to camp.

Outdoor School

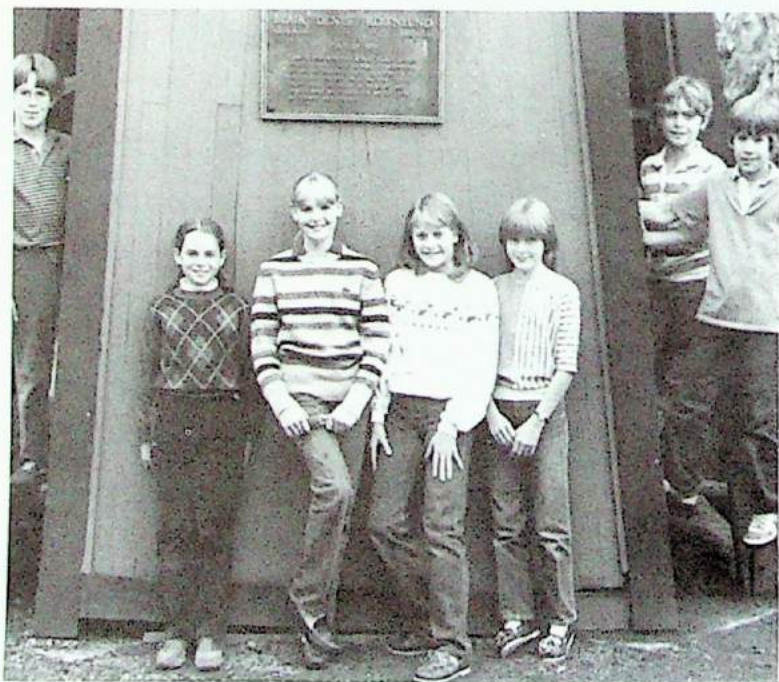

This fall the sixth graders packed up and headed off to Outdoor School. The experience was designed to give them a chance to learn about nature. E-C-D-C-I-C-A is the code which holds the key to all of the secrets of life on earth.

Orientation and Senior Entrance

September 8th: the infamous first day of school. The seniors made a grand entrance showing us all two sides of their personality. First, they came charging in on bicycles, tricycles, little red wagons, and Big Wheels. Then they came back in again marching down the aisle with an air of superiority about them.

Orientation was held out on the soccer field. The famous "circle sit", where everyone sits on the knees of the person behind them, was made but only held for a few seconds.

Fr. Paul remarked on how much the school seemed to have grown although there were only twenty-five new students.

1. How do we get out of this mess? 2. What do you want you lowly freshmen? 3. Don't we learn a lot at school? 4. School is so thrilling. 5. A legion of unwilling troops line up for Fr. Paul.

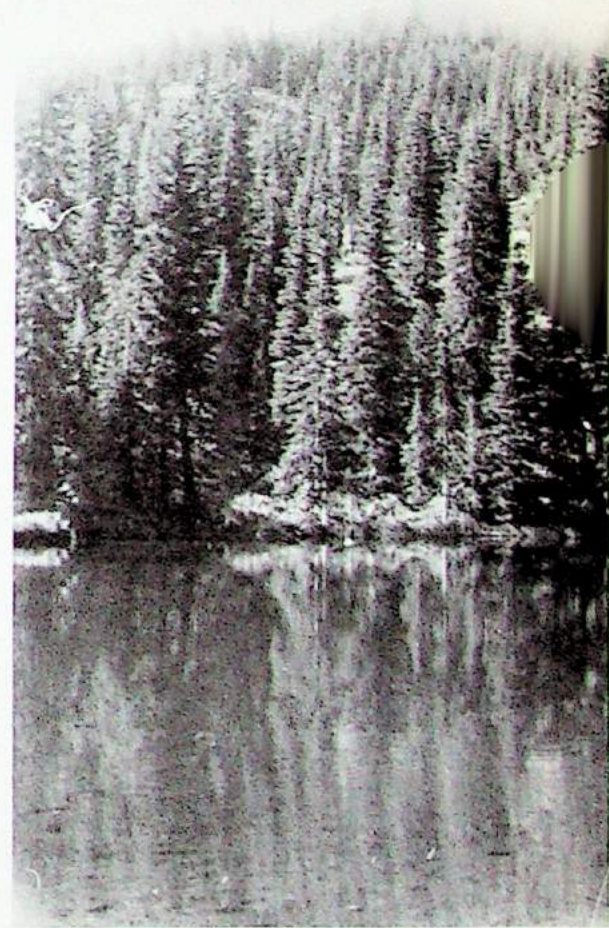

The Freshman Trip

This year's Freshman trip turned out to be quite an experience. The weather was mostly rainy. After each group had hiked their goal for the day, they were all happy to take off their packs and warm up by fires drinking hot chocolate.

The groups each had their share of wild people. One particular group even had a "Macaroni war". "Their whole tent collapsed after we bombarded them with macaroni," said one war soldier.

Each person had fun, but, as someone said, "I don't think we would have died of sorrow if we hadn't gone."

1. Morning break with hot chocolate. 2. John after his famous singing demonstration. 3. We have to hike how many more miles? 4. Pam Vohnson and Thom Hayes: two of our dedicated leaders. 5. One of the beautiful lakes we encountered on our journey.

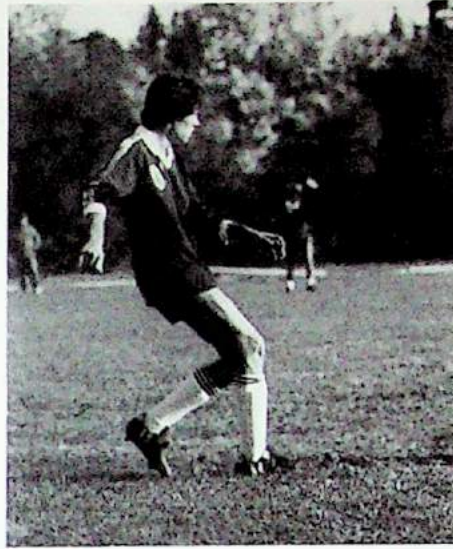

Girls' Soccer Has Superb Season

This year's Girls Varsity Soccer team had its best showing ever, ending up 11-5-1 for the season. Coached by Kris VanHatcher and Carla Heckrodt, everything seemed to fit together. The team was led by five returning seniors: Beth Kempton, Paige Parker, Liz Coletti, Leanne Amos, and Diana Smith. The top scorer was Susan McClave with seventeen goals. Thanks to super support from the crowds, the girls managed to win a play off game, at home, for the first time in OES' history. Wait till next year! Memories: "We switched to Burger King!", Chicken song, "Mange Merde!"

Boys' Varsity Soccer

The Boys' Varsity Soccer team demonstrated their talents and hard work during practices and their excellent performance on the field. Unfortunately the season did not consist of many wins. Their record was three wins, five losses, and four ties. Scott Doenecke and Phil Bronson did a fine job of supporting and guiding the team as co-captains. John Porter and Bronson have been elected co-captains for next year's team. Thad Bamford was the team's top scorer with seven goals and five assists. Although the team is losing four seniors, Doenecke, Hayes, Black, and Bamford, next year's team will be the strongest returning nucleus ever in five years.

OES Girls Volleyball

Although four out of the six varsity players graduated last year, this year's team had a successful year. They won only three matches but took almost all of the other matches to three games. The team agreed that some of the best games turned out to be the ones they lost. Not only did OES have first year players but the team also had a new coach, Carol Zosel. With Carol's encouragement they finished the year with a feeling of accomplishment.

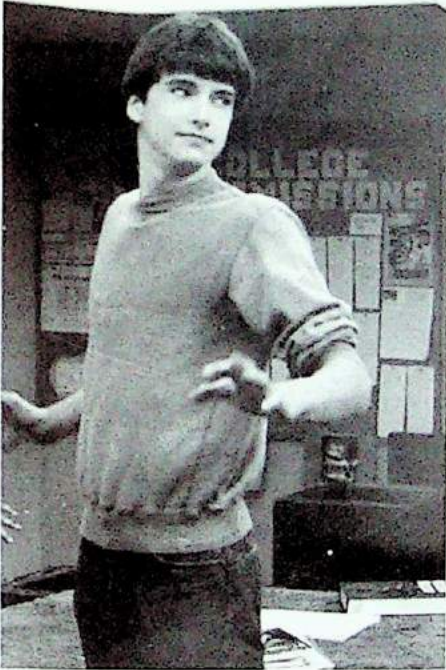

The team started with eleven players but finished with eight dedicated players: one Senior, two Juniors, four Sophomores, and one Freshman. The captain was Sue Horniman.

1. Kelly passed! 2. Wendi praising the ball 3. Stretch 1,2,3. 4. Sue waving to her foes. 5. Kristy Grover, Lisa Wade, Sue Horniman, April Palmer, Wendi Bekins, Jennifer Simon, Jenni Smith, Coach Carol Zosel, Helen Kirschner, and Kelly Brady

Fashion

This year our staff thought it would be fun to have a fashion page showing all of our unique styles. The students at OES wear everything from miniskirts to moccasins and Levis to Liz Claibourne Collectors. Our original getups can be seen on furbicles, in classrooms, and, of course, at college meetings. This is just one more way for OES students to show unique personalities.

1. Sophmore clones. 2. The latest in sweater styles. 3. "You want me to do WHAT with my oxford shirt?" 4. A shy model 5. Chique fashion for soccer watchers. 6. You name it, we got it.

Workservice

Workservice was initiated as a new program seven years ago for the OES Upper School students. The three goals formulated seven years ago still pertain. They are: 1. to help integrate the Upper School as a community, 2. to provide an opportunity for students to serve together helping others, and 3. to assist in getting essential workservice done.

The overall running of the workservice program is handled this year by Fr. David Pace. He sees to the assignment of all students to workservice jobs, that regular evaluation and grading is done, and maintains files on each student through their Upper School years.

1. Fr. Workservice. 2. "You want to know if we carry WHAT magazine?" 3. Workservice can be fun. 4. "No, this is not an Itch Day!"

Canned Food Drive

The canned food drive was pretty much a success. The William Temple House was very thankful for the cans and this year there was over $500 given, which was a big help. Unfortunately, only the freshmen and sophmores reached their quotas, but the juniors and seniors tried hard and almost made it. Thank you everyone for your hard work.

1. The sophmores are playing with their food again! 2. Joel is taking a quick nap before he deposits his cans. 3. Kevin is up to his ears in cans. 4. "Wow, six cans, it's a new record!" 5. This is a heavy load.

Beach Day

This year the senior class got tired of winter so we all got together on December 5th had a beach day. We didn't have time to actually go to the coast; instead we made OES into a beach day bonanza.

1. "We're just a bunch of beach bunnies!" 2. "Yes, I AM having fun." 3. "What did you say?" 4. "What's a girl like you doing in a place like this?"

Surviving Life

The dorms have grown tremendously this year. The new Director of Residence, Marion Horwell, brought many changes with her, plus a daughter, a dog, and a cat. We also had a new Resident Advisor, Jack Cluth, an avid Bloom County fan. The size of the dorms increased from forty-three last year to fifty-four this year. Most girls adjusted nicely to all being in one dorm since the boys took over Jackson House.

Noone was injured in the nightly stampede for milk and cookies after study hall. It was a different story on the hockey floor though. There it was kill or be killed. The job of recruiting players for the team was taken over by dormies. Someone could always be heard calling, "Anyone want to play hockey", at 9pm. Jeff Hicks and Jim Lekas, who supervised the games, could usually be found chasing the puck, hockey stick in hand.

Sue Jensen continued making delicious cookies. She organized a bell-chime choir and other dorm activities.

Everyone moped for weeks over the disappearance of Sue Lekas' cat Sylvester — even after she got a new cat, Gus. Sue insisted Gus was a he; Jim insisted Gus was a she. Jim brought home another cat a week later.

The new boarders went through the usual adjustment period, but with the help of returning students and an excellent Resident staff, the "family" seems to have made it.

1. "I hate strange people." 2. "Life in the dorms is tough." 3. Meet studious Charlie. 4. "You are blocking my view of the TV!" 5. "What are you doing to my cats?"

"The Mad Woman of Chailot"

This year's fall play was a lot of fun. It was the biggest cast the school had seen in a long time. Two-thirds of the upper school were involved in some way, either in crew, cast, or make up. As every play has its problems, so did this one. The dress rehearsals were a mess, props were always with the wrong character or missing, and even one of the main actors got sick three days before opening night. But, all in all, it added up to one huge success.

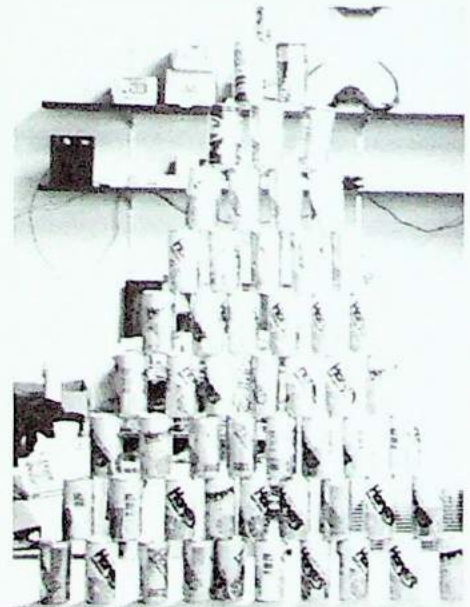

1. Mme. Constance petting Dickie while the Countess and Gabriel look on. 2. The rag picker admiring the scenery. 3. The crowd at the café. 4. The evil ones observe the action closely. 5. The prospector smells oil!

Boys Basketball

This year's basketball team didn't fare so well record wise. All in all, our team only won two games. However, this was a building year for O.E.S.'s team. What we lacked in wins, we made up for in team spirit. We were led by three high-powered seniors: Thad Bamford, Lee Piculell, and Mark Knapp. Led by their inspirations, the team worked very hard to improve. Memories: Lee cramming in cheeseburgers in one bite; the fantastic Seaside beach trip; helicopters; Jimmy betting against his own team; a lot of long road trips; fun, love, and hard workouts.

Varsity Ski Team

This year the ski team suffered from losses but also had several victories in a sense. The team itself never came in first but they did place. The girls varsity finished in fourth place overall; and Vlasta Mrkela did so well she was allowed to participate in state. First seeded for the boys varsity team was Greg Simon, who just missed making state this year. The boys team finished fifth overall. All-School Play

Beginning with the Faculty Play in 1981 and moving to the Faculty and Staff play for 1982 and 1983, the cast changed again for 1984. A.R. Gurney J.R.'s production of THE DINING ROOM included four upper school students, two middle school students, and approximately 20 faculty and staff members. The play was shown on Feb. 24th and 25th. It was comprised of 16 different scenes ranging from humorous to sensitive as the cast dramatized how the dining room's purpose has evolved. All in all, with the dessert included in the price, the play was a success.

The Farewell

Farewell to you and the youth I have spent with you.
It was but yesterday we met in a dream.
You have sung to me in my loneliness and I of your longings have built a tower in the sky.
But now our sleep has fled, and our dream is over, and it is no longer dawn.
The noontide is upon us and our half waking has turned to a fuller day, and we must part.
If in the twilight of memory we should meet once more, we shall speak again together and you shall sing to me a deeper song.
And if our hands should meet in another dream, we shall build another tower in the sky.

My fellow Oesians,

Taking the task of being editor expended more of my life than I ever imagined it would. I must admit I'm glad my time is over. I would like to give credit to my staff for all the time they put in. I would also like to extend some gratitude towards our advisor Carla Heckrodt. There are also people that weren't officially on our staff who I would like to thank. Thom Hayes, Gary Crossman, Nancy Floerke, Deedee Dobbins, and Doug Grissom were all independent photographers. Plus, a special thanks to Darrell Miller, because without his moral support I would have quit at page 8.

O.E.S. I hope you enjoy the Legend Delphic 1984. And even more, (to quote a past editor), "I hope you will enjoy it many times again . . . for to bring you future pleasure is its real purpose." Goodbye O.E.S. 1984 The future is STILL here.

Love,

Paige Parker
