

Ledgen - Delphic

"73"

OREGON EPISCOPAL SCHOOLS

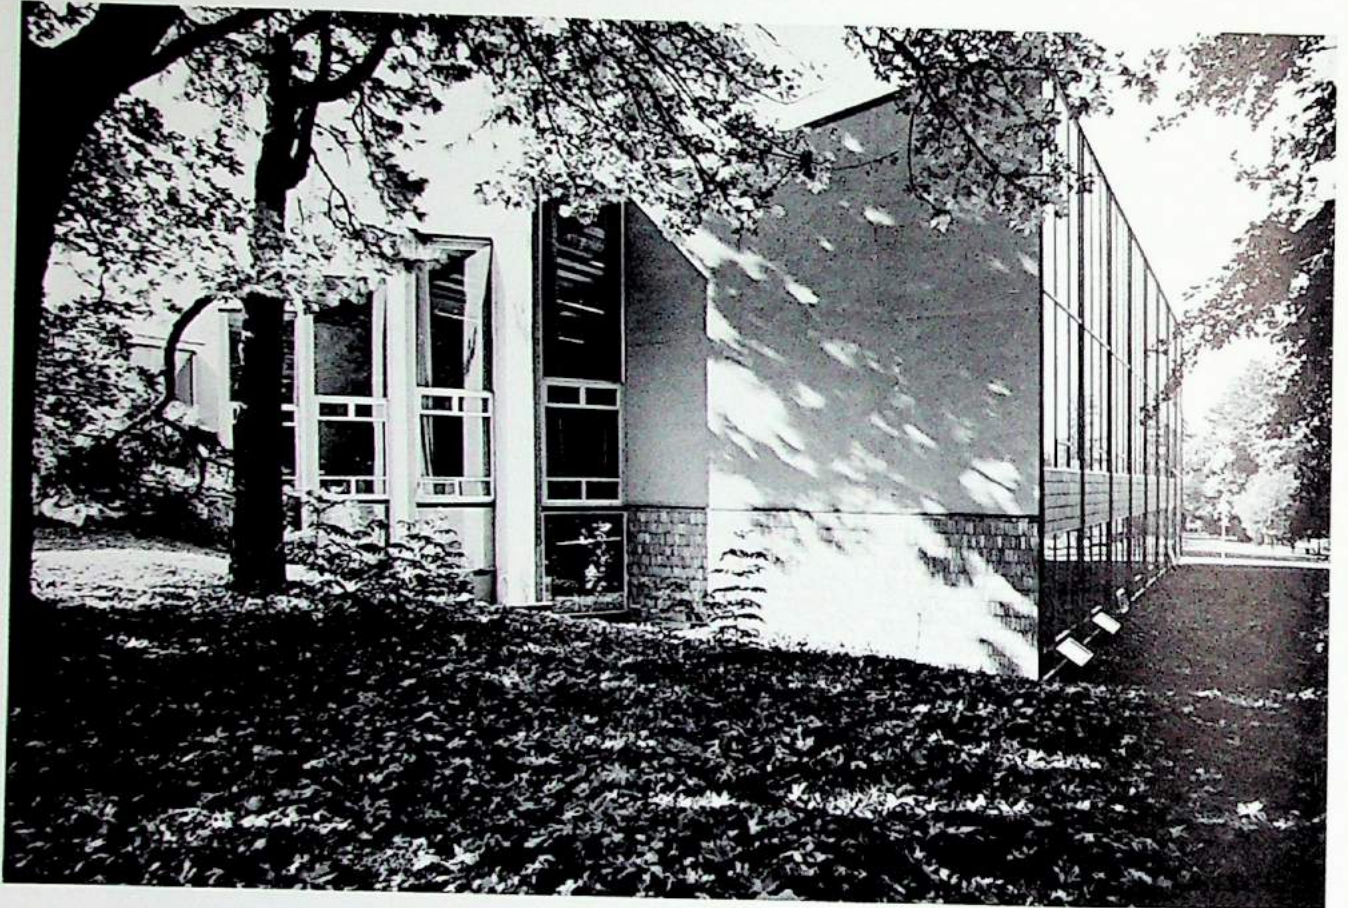

He is a man who likes fish. He is an individual who spends much of his time helping people--students, and people whose soccer ball and airplane and lacrosse stick are stuck in a tree. He accomplished this heroic deed one afternoon. There he was single handedly (with the dubious help of two dogs and three kids) rescuing a forlorn airplane from the evil clutches of a sadistic tree.

He enjoys catchy phrases and long resounding words--anything under three syllables is definitely out.

He is always there. That is what is most important. When you are caught again in the sadistic clutches of an insane biology chapter, or a physics problem, he will rescue you just as quickly as he did the airplane.

It is more than a thank you we offer here; it is a promise that Mr. Hicks will never be forgotten.

We dedicate the nineteen seventy-three yearbook to you, Mr. Hicks.

"When all the laughter dies in sorrow
and all the tears have risen to a flood.
When all the wars have found a cause
in human wisdom and in blood.
Do you think they'll cry in sadness
Do you think the eye will blink
Do you think they'll curse the madness
Do you even think they'll think?"

When all the great galactic systems sigh to a frozen halt in space.
Do you think there will be some remnant of beauty of the human race
Do you think there will be a vestige

"Alone I walked on the strand,
A pearly shell was in my hand;
I stooped, and wrote upon the sand
 My name, the year, the day.
As onward from the spot I passed,
One lingering look behind I cast,
A wave came rolling high and fast,
And washed my lines away.

Some of the Raisin
Freaks of '73

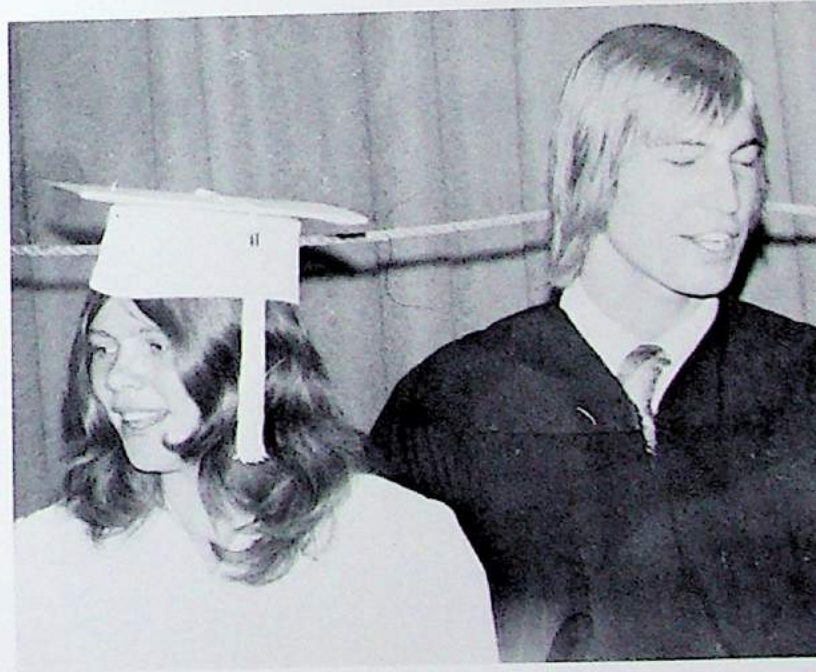

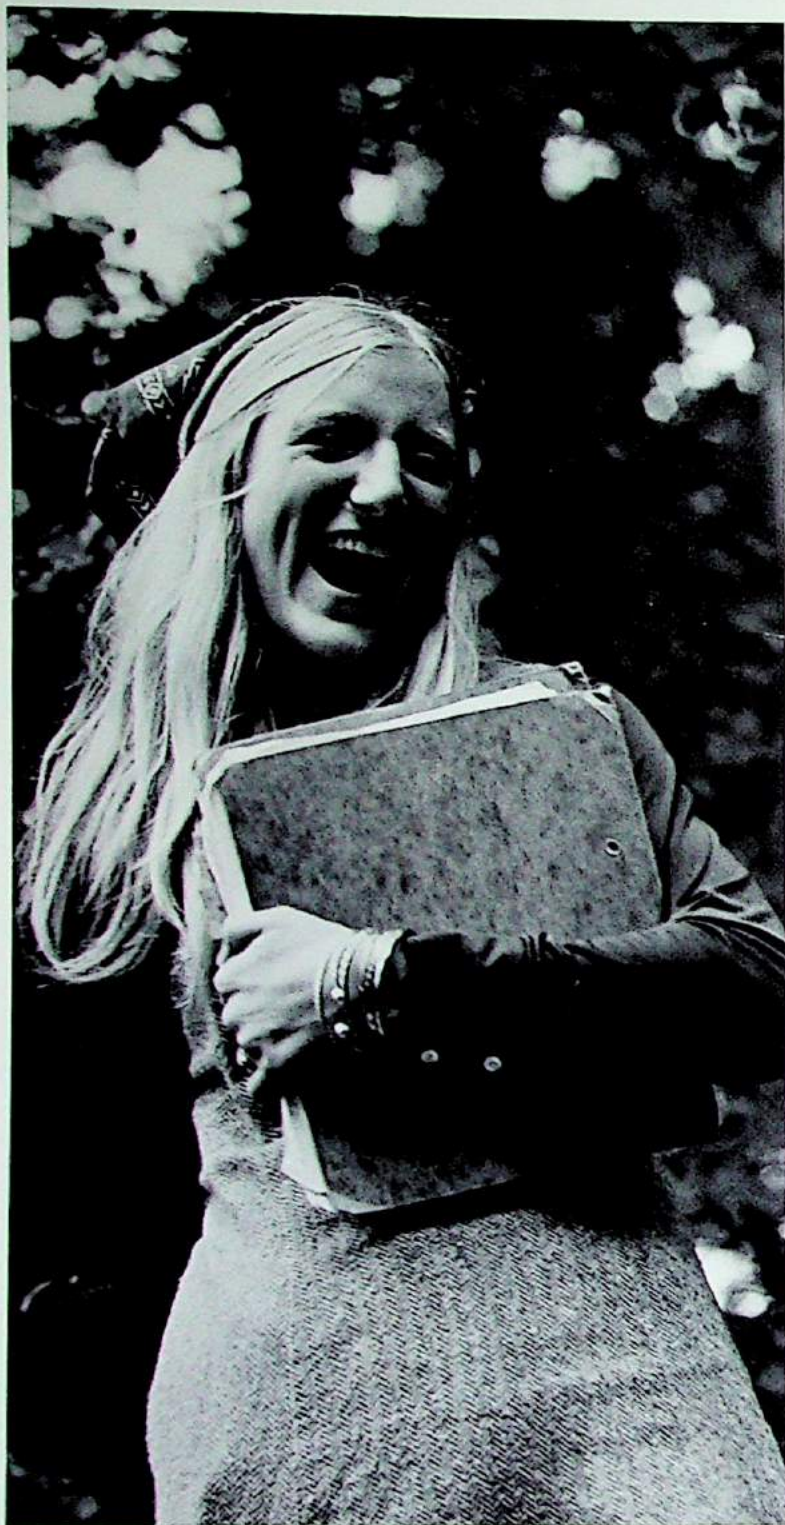

"Mr. Wood is an individual who...." Mr. Wood is an individual. It is as simple as that. Or is it? Or is he? Whatever he may be, Mr. Wood has earned the respect of many students. His constant quest for a generous smoking student has challenged him during the years he's been here. One of his great loves is a perennially refreshing raisin; another is the life of Ulysses S. Grant. Looming authoritatively over whatever innocent mischief a student may engage in is the figure of Mr. Wood. For us, Class of '73, the School and Mr. Wood exist as one. Our feeble imagination cannot conceive of either without the other. Let us leave it, then, for future generations to separate The Wood from the Chaff. We warn you of this, however, it will not be easy. His trace will be found--under the desk, behind the kitchen, on the history bookcase, and somewhere beside a cold fire at Whatam Lake.

"I'm WHAT.....OK."

Sitting home on a hot summer night while trying to write an editors note, the only thing that comes to mind are the words of my math teacher Jim Weber, "K.I.S.S." (Keep it simple, stupid.)

I would like to extend my thanks to Ellen Montegue, Lisa Johnson, Blaire Rosenlund and Leann Correa for coming through some of the time and to Liz Robbins for coming through once. A very special thanks to Barbie Babson for being my right-hand man throughout this whole thing and to the bear at home whose nagging and pessimism made me prove to myself and to her that the year-book would get out.

Nancy Bogue
Editor

"The copyists worked fast. They finished a book with a great sense of relief (as who does not?), and often closed with a personal note. For instance: Explicit hoc totum;/ Pro Christo da mihi potum." The Horizon Book of the Middle Ages - pg. 283.
